EYE ON INFLUENCERS

Watch what you post, say poll officials

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

IF you are an influencer or have a large number of followers on social media, be watchful of what you post or share, as the Election Commission officials are watching you closely.

Any hate speech, setting narratives or influencing voters will be dealt with sternly as over the years, social media has gained the centrestage in election campaigns and reaching out to voters, said Election Commission officials.

The Commission has made a list of 300 social media influencers at the state level, while officials at the district level are still compiling the list, said AV Suryasen, special officer, IT and Media, office of the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO). CONTINUED ON: P7

ECI to act against Shobha, Union min retracts remarks

Her statement generalises TN people as extremists: DMK plaint

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Election Commission officials are examining a complaint by Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) leaders, seeking action against Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje for alleging that a person from Tamil Nadu was responsible for the blast at The Rameshwaram Cafe in Bengaluru on March 1. Karandlaje, who is contesting as a BJP candidate from the Bengaluru North Lok Sabha constituency, retracted her remarks and issued an apology.

The Election Commission on Wednesday directed the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) Karnataka to take immediate and appropriate action on the DMK's complaint about the alleged violation of the Model Code of Conduct. In its complaint to the ECI, the DMK said the minister's statement generalised the people of Tamil Nadu as "extremists".

During a protest against an attack on a shopkeeper in Bengaluru for playing devotional songs, the BJP leader had said that law and order in Karnataka has deteriorated and people who come from Tamil Nadu are planting bombs.

Her remarks had drawn sharp criticism from Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin and other leaders. Stalin demanded legal action against her and also urged the ECI to immediately initiate stringent action. Madurai police on Wednesday booked a case against the BJP leader for "promoting enmity" between different groups.

"We received the ECI directions with a copy of the complaint. We are examining the complaint and will initiate action as per law and ECI directions," Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), Karnataka, Manoj Kumar Meena told TNIE. P4

'Inequality today worse than under British Raj'

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

INDIA is more unequal now than it was under the British rule, says a paper released by Paris-based World Inequality Lab. The report, co-authored by Nitin Kumar Bharti, Lucas Chancel, Thomas Piketty, and Anmol Somanchi, also recommends a 2% super tax on the net wealth of the wealthiest families to generate resources for public investment.

The report says top-end inequality peaked between 2014-15 and 2022-23, driven by wealth concentration. By 2022-23, India's top 1% income and wealth shares (22.6% and 40.1%) were at their highest historical levels. For context, the US's top 1% income share was 21%.

The report cautions such high levels inequality could trigger concentration of income and wealth, which could in turn negatively influence the society and the government at large.

To arrive at these conclusions, the inequality report has taken into consideration the national income accounts, wealth aggregates, tax tabulations, rich lists, and surveys on income, consumption, and wealth. The report calls for a restructuring of India's tax system to account for both income and wealth. It also stresses on the need for generating resources for investments in health and education to enable the common man to benefit from the ongoing wave of globalisation.

The government should tap India's wealthiest families to generate resources for public investments, it says, adding that India's 167 wealthiest families in 2022-23 would yield 0.5% of national income in revenues.

Petitions in SC as govt notifies fact check unit ahead of polls

RAKESH KUMAR & PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the general elections, the government on Wednesday notified the Fact Check Unit under the Press Information Bureau to monitor content on social media tied to the Centre. The unit was notified under the 2021 IT Rules.

According to the new regulation, if a government information is misrepresented on any online platform, the fact-checking unit will flag it. Social media platforms and other online intermediaries will then decide on taking down the content. If they refuse to drop the content, they risk losing the protections granted under Section 79 of the IT Act. This section provides immunity to online platforms from content posted by users and third parties.

The notification comes a week after the Bombay High Court rejected a petition filed by Editors Guild of India and others against the fact checker. They argued that the regulations could lead to censorship of free speech in the country.

The Editors Guild has now filed a petition before the Supreme Court. "We remain opposed to it because I don't think that in a democratic country like us, the government alone can decide what is fake information," said Editors Guild general secretary Ruben Banerjee. Political satirist Kunal Kamra, too, has moved the SC.

Modi nudges Putin, Zelenskyy to resolve conflict through talks

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday used the opportunity of greeting Vladimir Putin on his re-election as Russian President by nudging him during their telephonic conversation to resolve the ongoing Ukraine war through dialogue and diplomacy. He had a similar message for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in his separate conversation with him.

"I spoke with President Putin and congratulated him on his re-election and also agreed to work together to further deepen and expand India-Russia Special and Privileged Strategic Partnership in the years ahead," Modi said.

"Both leaders expressed satisfaction with the consistent and dynamic development of mutually beneficial ties in trade, economy, energy, and transport," a Russian readout of the call said. "An exchange of views was also held on a number of issues on the international agenda, in particular in the context of the situation around Ukraine," the Kremlin's statement said.

President Putin conveyed his wishes to Modi for the successful conduct of the upcoming parliamentary elections.

Modi is one of the few world leaders who have congratulated Putin for his re-election.

Speaking to Zelenskyy, Modi assured India will continue to provide humanitarian assistance to Ukraine, guided by its "people-centric" approach. The prime minister reiterated India's consistent support for all efforts for peace and bringing an early end to the ongoing conflict. Zelenskyy thanked India for its support for Ukraine's sovereignty and territorial integrity, humanitarian aid, and active participation in Peace Formula meetings. The two leaders discussed ways to further strengthen the partnership in various spheres.

WILL TARIFF HIKE LEAD TO JUDICIOUS USE OF WATER? EXPERTS SAY YES...

'Govt should take up water rate hike above 8,000 litres'

PIC: VINOD KUMAR T

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

AS Bengaluru is facing one of its worst summers, water experts are insisting that the State Government hike the rate of water supplied by the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB). They say that there should not be any hike for a minimum of 8,000 litres and that the tariff is hiked steeply beyond that. They argue that the water tariff hike will push consumers to use water judiciously and to look towards water conservation measures like rainwater harvesting (RWH), which is not satisfactory in the Garden City.

Rainwater harvesting expert AR Shivakumar feels that Bengaluru is extracting too much groundwater than what is it recharging. "As many borewells have gone dry, there is lot of hue and cry on water shortage. Many of us would have seen water overflowing from tanks, water being wasted by our neigbours, and using the precious resource in a neglected manner. Such mindless use of water can be brought under control only by hiking the water tariff," Shivakumar opines. He says that Bengaluru is getting enough rain and a simple step of conserving it, using it, and recharging the groundwater will help alleviate the water problem in the city. "Instead of setting up RWH units, many are paying a fine. The water tariff hike is needed to make them fall in line and use rainwater," he elaborates. He adds that a water tariff hike above 8,000 litres should be taken up by the government and this will force people to use water judiciously and conserve the precious commodity.

Co-founder and convenor of Friends of Lakes, Ram Prasad, says, "Forget the five guarantee schemes offered by the Congress government. Water is highly subsidised and the amount of subsidy will overtake many guarantee schemes."

"If the water board adds the operations and maintenance cost, capital cost, debt servicing and its sinking funds the cost to supply one-kilo litre of water from TK Halli, which is 100 km from the city, will be Rs 95 per kilo litre. The water board is paying crores as an electricity fee to pump water to the city. However, the water board is supplying water for Rs 7 per 1,000 litres (1 kilo litre) for up to 8,000 litres for domestic consumers. They charge Rs 11 for 1 kilo litre in the slab 8,001-25,000 litres, Rs 26 for 25,001-50,000 litres, and a flat Rs 45 for usage beyond 50,000 litres," Prasad explains.

As per the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs, 135 litre per capita per day (LPCD) is the suggested benchmark for urban water supply. "Water is a right of people and the water board should charge nominally up to the first slab (0-8,000 litres) but charge high beyond that slab," Prasad says. He adds that in many posh areas and apartment complexes, people are guzzling water and they are consuming more than 300 LPCD as the water supplied by BWSSB is cheap for them. "At least the guarantee schemes are for the poor, here for the rich and poor, the water charges remain the same," he feels.

Officials from the water board said that their proposal to hike the water tariff is with the government and if it gives its nod, they can hike the tariff.

Receding lakes leave fishermen high and dry

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

CALL it a summer curse as hundreds of fishermen families dependent on city lakes are left scraping a livelihood as many water bodies have completely dried up or the water level is drastically low.

Subbaiah, advisor to the Bengaluru Meenu Utpadaka Mattu Marata Sahakara Sangha, said in Ulsoor Lake, fishing activities have stopped for the last 25 days. In Jakkur Lake, there was no fishing in the last three weeks as the water level has come down.

According to the deputy director of fisheries department, over 2,500 fishermen and their families are dependent on 137 tanks. Of these, around 35 per cent have dried up.

"In all, 35 fishermen families are dependent on Ulsoor Lake. Fish like Katla, Rohu, Mrigal and Tilapia fetch between Rs 7o and 80 a kilo. However, in the last month, there is no fishing in the lake as the water levels have gone very low and it is not suitable for boats," said Subbaiah.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Chief Engineer of Lakes, Vijay Kumar, said, "The water bodies in Bengaluru are taken care of by civic agencies, but fishing in lakes is the responsibility of fisheries department."

"With many lakes going dry, it is impacting the lives of fishermen too. The lakes will get filled either by rains or by treated water now," he added.

Commenting on the situation, Chikkanna, fisheries deputy director of Bengaluru Urban, said, "There is a provision to help the fishermen community grow and sell fish from urban water bodies. Many lakes in Bengaluru have gone dry. Now, some lakes are being filled with treated water."

"Since the fishermen have been given a five-year contract, they can hope to recover when it rains," said Chikkanna.

The official said, according to data, 70 tanks were given on lease for a total amount of Rs 16.072 lakh. For individual fishermen under e-tender, 67 tanks were leased out and the department received Rs 113.74 lakh.

Similarly, two reservoirs -- Tippagondanahalli and Hessarghatta -- were leased for Rs 5.40 lakh.

BWSSB: DO NOT USE CAUVERY, BOREWELL WATER THIS HOLI

Bengaluru: With Bengaluru facing water scarcity and Holi festival falling on March 25, the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) on Wednesday appealed to the public not to use Cauvery or borewell water for entertainment purposes like rain dance, pool dance and other forms of water-related events. Appealing to the public, BWSSB Chairman Ram Prasat Manohar said, "Everyone's cooperation will be very important for the board to effectively manage the escalating problems." "There is no objection to celebrating the festival in homes and residences. There is no ban on cultural celebration. However, it will not be reasonable to organise rain and pool dances for entertainment given the present situation," he added. ENS

KSCA SEEKS TREATED WATER FOR CHINNASWAMY STADIUM

Bengaluru: Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA) has requested the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) to provide treated water to Chinnaswamy Stadium for the upcoming IPL cricket tournament. KSCA office-bearers and Board of Directors met BWSSB Chairman V Ram Prasath Manohar on Wednesday and made a request in this regard, and suggested that water can be availed from the Cubbon Park waste water treatment plant. The stadium requires 75,000 litres of water during tournaments. Manohar responded positively and said this will encourage use of treated water. ENS

BWSSB ASKS PLUMBERS TO CREATE AWARENESS ON AERATORS

Bengaluru: Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) Chairman V Ram Prasath Manohar said plumbers should persuade homeowners and establishments to install rainwater harvesting systems and aerators in water taps. In a meeting with members of the plumbers' association here on Wednesday, he said they should create awareness about aerators and flow controllers to prevent wastage of water. "It costs the board around Rs 95 to supply 1,000 litres of water to households in Bengaluru, but we are providing water to people at a discounted rate of Rs 45. Plumbers should prioritise rainwater harvesting and persuade people to make necessary arrangements for harvesting rainwater in buildings and recharging the groundwater," he said. ENS

Inappropriate behaviour: Metro suspends guard

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) on Wednesday suspended a security guard for alleged inappropriate behaviour in front of a woman passenger at the Jalahalli Metro station on Sunday (March 17) afternoon. An inquiry has also been ordered into the incident. The matter came to light after a post on X on Tuesday highlighted the complaint sent by the woman to BMRCL accompanied by video evidence.

In her complaint e-mailed to the Travel Desk Helpline of BMRCL on the same day of the incident, the woman accused the guard of continuously staring at her from the platform across and indulging in obscene gestures. "This is from a Metro passenger (female) sending this mail. Today, I had an experience wherein a security guard on the opposite side of the platform was continuously staring at me and making some gestures such as keeping hands on his private parts. It happened around 2.30 in the afternoon at Jalahalli Metro station. I was so uncomfortable during the daytime itself. And I tried asking him but still he kept staring at me and doing some gestures. So I started taking a video. Then he turned aside. I have attached a video proof with this mail. I kindly request you to take some action. I'm not feeling safe," the woman said in the complaint.

Mohit Bishoi's post on Tuesday released the woman's complaint letter as well as the video she shot which went viral. He accused BMRCL of ignoring the woman's e-mail complaint as well as alleged that the Majestic Metro station (Kempegowda) officials refused to take a complaint citing jurisdictional issues.

Chief Public Relations Officer, BMRCL, B L Yashwanth Chavan told TNIE, "This security guard deployed by a private firm has been working with Metro for seven or eight years. He is squint-eyed and it is there in the records submitted with the agency which has hired him too. There is considerable distance between the opposite platforms of a Metro station. A person in such a condition can get easily misunderstood."

Reiterating that BMRCL was not trying to defend the guard in any manner, he added, "An inquiry has been ordered into the incident and he has been suspended until that."

Apart from informing about the suspension, the official handle of BMRCL said Bengaluru Metro has a zero tolerance policy towards any action detrimental to safety and security of women passengers.

Bengaluru police responded to the social media post saying the complaint was forwarded to the police officers concerned for necessary action and urged the public to dial 112 in case of distress or emergency.

Health minister launches mental health centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said many health issues stem from undiagnosed mental illness, often due to people's reluctance to openly discuss the underlying problems affecting their mental health.

After inaugurating a state-of-the-art mental health facility set up by Sukoon Health on Wednesday, the minister said, "The rise in health problems related to mental health, specifically among young people due to work stress and other factors, underscores the need for intervention. The psychiatry centre will assess the situation and help in proposing practical solutions accordingly."

Sukoon Health, which has centres in New Delhi, Gurugram and Madhya Pradesh and is now in Bengaluru, aims to improve mental health and provide de-addiction care.

Dr Satish Ramaiah, centre head of Sukoon Health, Bengaluru, said, "We prioritise a comprehensive care approach that focuses on not just recovery, but also the holistic well-being of our patients. By emphasising functional recovery, social integration and preventing relapses, we aim to enhance an individual's quality of life."

Don't complain too strenuously about the lack of support you've received from people who are supposed to be on your side. They can't very well help you if you haven't told them what you're doing! If your work commitments accumulate, you're liable to do something rash, but keep an eye on the consequences.

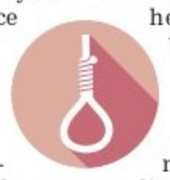
Rejected by GF, 20-year-old dies by suicide

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 20-year-old youth died by suicide in Hebbagodi police station limits on Monday, allegedly dejected after his girlfriend broke off with him.



The police said the deceased, Harshith, received a call from a relative of his girlfriend threatening him to end the relationship stating that they had chosen another man for her. Following this, the girl too stopped talking to Harshith and told him to maintain distance from her. Harshith, who still tried to keep in touch with her, hung himself to a ceiling fan at his rented house in Anekal after she reportedly ignored his calls, the police added.

Before taking the extreme step, Harshith, who recently started working at a private firm as an accountant, had sent a message to his mother on WhatsApp along with the contact details of the relative who had threatened him, the police said and added that his mother later tried contacting the same number but received no response.

His parents then lodged a complaint with the Hebbagodi police, holding Harshith's girlfriend, who was reportedly in a relationship with him for nearly two years, and her relatives responsible for their son's death.

A police officer said Harshith had been staying alone at a rented house in Hulimangala since he started working. His girlfriend's family also reside within Hulimangala, but they and the girl fled after they got to know about the incident and are yet to be traced.

Cops across state directed to mandatorily wear helmets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ADDITIONAL Director General of Police (ADGP) of Traffic and Road Safety, Alok Kumar, on Tuesday issued a circular, directing police personnel across the state to compulsorily wear helmets while riding two-wheelers. BJP MAY ANNOUNCE 2nd LIST TO 5 SEATS TOMORROW

● BSY says he has discussed list with top brass ● Party says everything fine with JDS ● Shah suggested Manjunath's name

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP is likely to announce its second list for Karnataka on Friday, said former chief minister BS Yediyurappa, who is also a member of the party's Central Election Committee (CEC), on Wednesday.

Speaking to reporters in Delhi, Yediyurappa said he, along with BJP national president JP Nadda, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and others, discussed candidates for the remaining five Lok Sabha constituencies. "We are going to announce the names on Friday, after discussing it with Prime Minister Narendra Modi," he said.

Yediyurappa said he is confident of the BJP winning all the 28 Lok Sabha seats in Karnataka, with the help of its alliance partner JDS. He said the JDS, headed by former prime minister HD Deve Gowda, and the BJP will work together to reach the number. When asked about the displeasure expressed by certain JDS leaders over the alliance, Yediyurappa said Gowda and former CM HD Kumaraswamy are in touch with the BJP, and everything is fine. "We are trying to give tickets to those seats, from where they had desired to contest. He said they are going to reveal details about the final seat-sharing and the candidates' list soon," he said. When asked about former DCM KS Eshwarappa's statement that BJP state president BY Vijayendra will step down from his post, after the Lok Sabha poll results, and after Eshwarappa wins from Shivamogga, Yediyurappa refused to comment. "I can say that after Vijayendra took charge, it has helped our party" he added.

B'luru Rural segment to witness a potboiler

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE contest in Bengaluru Rural Lok Sabha constituency is turning out to be a political potboiler and may even force Union Home Minister Amit Shah to tacitly enter the scene to ensure a level for political novice Dr CN Manjunath, who is the BJP candidate.

Dr Manjunath, who is the son-in-law of JDS patriarch and former PM HD Deve Gowda, will face Congress' incumbent MP DK Suresh in Bengaluru Rural, a constituency that is a mix of urban and rural areas.

According to an informed source, it was Shah who suggested the name of Dr Manjunath be fielded from the constituency. "Shah proposed Dr Manjunath's name as he can woo the 17-lakh urban electorate in the constituency. The JDS, the BJP's alliance partner, can woo the remaining 10-lakh rural voters," a JDS leader said.

Dr Manjunath had met Shah along with state JDS chief and former CM HD Kumaraswamy in New Delhi recently, and they discussed the constituency in detail, added sources.

Shah is also likely to target the sitting MP DK Suresh as he is the younger brother of DyCM and KPCC president DK Shivakumar. Suresh had recently sparked a controversy by allegedly saying that southern states might demand a separate nation if the Centre continued with its stepmotherly treatment to the state in terms of tax share.

Meanwhile, a political slugfest between Suresh and Kumaraswamy began with the announcement of the polls, with the latter saying the former was distributing sarees and cookers among voters. Kumaraswamy had even sought the transfer of Ramanagara DC and SP for a free and fair election.

Suresh, rubbishing the charges, clarified that he has nothing to do with the sarees seized. "We (Congress) have made HD Deve Gowda the nation's PM and his son HD Kumaraswamy the CM. If Congress had not made him PM, this country would not remember him, and he would be like any other CMs of the state," taunted Suresh.

Kumaraswamy, who is in Chennai for heart surgery, stated that he will campaign aggressively after getting discharged from the hospital. "I pray to God that he gets well soon. In politics, the stronger the opponent is, the better we can work," Suresh added.

He criticised Gowda for allegedly saying that he would quit the country if Modi won again in 2019, and suggested the media highlight this. "I am asking the people of my constituency for the coolie (wages) for the work I have done," Suresh added.

SIDDARAMAIAH FACING POLITICAL INSECURITY: RAVI

BENGALURU: Former BJP national general secretary CT Ravi said CM Siddaramaiah has political insecurity. "This is why he is now claiming to be a strong CM, which is not true," he said. Ravi said Siddaramaiah has shared on social media that Narendra Modi is a weak Prime Minister, while he is a strong CM. "PM Modi is one of the strongest leaders in the world. People in India and foreign leaders have accepted this. He was even given the highest recognition of 11 countries. People have also seen him effectively handle the Covid crisis," he said. Further, Ravi alleged that ever since the Congress government came to power in Karnataka last year, farmer suicides have increased. In the last 10 months, 690 farmers died. Naxal activities, which had almost ceased completely, are now re-emerging. ENS

VIJAYENDRA WILL LOSE HIS POSITION AFTER POLLS: KSE

SHIVAMOGGA: Former DCM KS Eshwarappa said state BJP president BY Vijayendra will lose his position after the polls. Eshwarappa said, "The party should not be in the hands of a single family. This was not only my personal opinion, but also the opinion of several other leaders and workers. Each one of us would sit together, discuss this issue. But, we won't allow Vijayendra to continue as state president," said Eshwarappa. "The party leaders assured me that I would be given a gubernatorial position, while my son, KE Kanthesh, would get a place in the Council. But I am not after positions, either for myself or for my son. My only intention is to protect the party. Hence, I am in the fray. A debate is on across the state about my candidature in the Lok Sabha elections. Definitely, I will win," he asserted. ENS

Cong candidate counters Somanna, meets many seers

Sri Prasannananda Swamiji, the seer of Valmiki Gurupeetha, ties a holy thread around the wrist of Tumakuru Lok Sabha candidate SP Muddahanume Gowda in Tumakuru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Tumakuru

SP Muddahanume Gowda, the Congress candidate from the Tumakuru Lok Sabha constituency, was on a spree of diving at the feet of religious heads in and around Tumakuru and also the neighbouring districts of Chitradurga and Davanagere on Wednesday. The religious overture was to counter his BJP opponent V Somanna, who is in good terms with most of the religious heads like former chief minister BS Yediyurappa. Gowda opted for a similar strategy, choosing to meet over a dozen seers, especially from SC/ST and OBC communities.

Regardless of their profile, big or small, he dived at the feet of the saffron-clad religious heads and promptly sought the blessings of Sri Madara Channayya of Madiga community, which has a considerable vote share, Sri Prasannanada Swamiji of Valmiki peetha and also the heads of Banjara, Bhovi, Yadava communities among others. To start with, Gowda, a Vokkaliga, met the community's religious head Sri Nirmalanandanatha Swami of Adi Chunchangiri Mutt, besides Veerashiva Lingayat's Siddaganga Mutt head Sri Siddalinga Swami. Somanna, a Veerashaiva Lingayat, too met both the seers recently. But Gowda went a step ahead to seek the goodwill of other lesser-known religious heads.

The Tumakuru Lok Sabha constituency has a considerable chunk of the electorate from various Dalit and backward classes. The religious heads representing them have the influence of their own and their word has a bearing on the results. There have been instances of these heads passing messages in favour of 'suitable' candidates in the poll fray in the past. Turncoat Gowda, a theist, also had a stint with the saffron party when he joined BJP ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls and returned to Congress with a ticket to contest the Lok Sabha polls.

Normally, politicians who run for the CM, DCM and ministerial berths, call on the religious heads, but in these polls, the candidates are not leaving anything to chance as the caste too will play a major role.

Congress' second list delayed

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

DESPITE several rounds of discussion, the Congress Election Committee which met in New Delhi on Wednesday could not come out with the second list of candidates for Karnataka because of lack of consensus for four seats--Kolar, Ballari, Chikkaballapur and Chamarajanagar.

It will now be announced on Thursday, sources said. There were differences over Kolar as two factions, led by Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa and former speaker KR Ramesh Kumar, had heated exchanges at a meeting with the CM and DCM. Muniyappa insisted on a ticket for his son-in-law Chikkapeddappa, a sub-registrar, while Kumar batted for CM Muniyappa, a leader who worked for the victory of Kotturu Manjunath in the Assembly polls.

Though the high command insisted that Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa should contest, he lobbied for his son Sunil Bose for Chamrajnagar. But as a survey report is against Bose, another faction opposed it. Former MLA Nanjundaswamy is an aspirant.

In Ballari, though the high command wanted minister B Nagendra to contest, he sought the ticket for his brother Venkateshprasad. But former MP VS Ugrappa emerged as a strong contender. In Chikkaballapur, if BJP fields Sumalatha Ambareesh, Congress will opt for Shivashankar Reddy, otherwise it could be Raksha Ramaiah.

BJP's 'no mike, no chairs' drive to touch small groups

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

FOR the first time, BJP is targeting smaller groups at multiple locations across Karnataka as part of its initiative to reach out to voters at the micro-level. According to party leaders, it is a 'no mike, no chairs' campaign. The party wants to finish off one set of meetings by April 5.

Party leaders and workers will hold such meetings on the roadside, under village trees or at someone's residence with a target of around 100 people. "Not many attend big rallies. If we hold smaller meetings, we will be able to reach out to all, one on one," a senior leader said. On Wednesday, a meeting was held with the heads of various cells on how to go about conducting these meetings.

The party has designed campaigns at various levels. They have plans to conduct bigger campaigns at eight different clusters, of which Kalaburagi and Shivamogga got over recently. They have plans to add two more, where Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Minister Amit Shah and other national leaders will address people.

For the micro-level meetings, the 22 different cells in the party state unit -- including for farmers, advocates, doctors, beneficiaries (those who have benefited from the Central schemes), fishermen, milkmen and more -- will conduct campaigns targeting their community members. "We will take the help of local leaders, including gram panchayat members, local party office-bearers and others, to address these gatherings. We will also reach out to women voters and explain to them about Central schemes, like Ujwala, Jal Jeevan mission and others," they added.

BJP-JDS Coordination panel

To address any differences between leaders and workers of BJP and JDS, a coordination committee is being planned and leaders from both parties will be part of it. These leaders will work at the constituency level.

Veena's supporters protest over reports of ticket denial

Supporters of Congress leader Veena Kashappanavar protest outside the party office in Bagalkot on Wednesday | EXPRESS

BAGALKOT: The reports of the Congress central leadership possibly giving ticket to Samyukta Patil, daughter of minister Shivanand Patil, has angered supporters of former ZP president Veena Kashappanavar, and they protested outside the Congress office here on Wednesday. The supporters, who called Samyukta as an 'outsider' since she hails from Vijayapura, demanded that the party high command give the ticket to a local. The protesters were angry with the reported decision and gathered outside the party office in large numbers, shouting slogans against the party leaders and even burnt tyres to vent their ire. According to them, Veena, who is wife of Congress MLA of Hungund Vijayanand Kashappanavar, has been actively working for the party even after losing in the last LS polls against BJP's PC Gaddigoudar. She has been touring the district and meeting people and has remained in touch with voters. Having worked for the party for long, she deserves the ticket, the protesters said. They did not want Samyukta to be given ticket to contest from the district, as she had not worked for the party locally, and was being parachuted for the LS polls. The protesters also tried to picket the Congress office, which was prevented by the police. ENS

Sources said that after the surgery, Kumaraswamy is likely to be kept in the ICU for a day or two. On Wednesday, his wfe Anitha, son Nikhil and three-year-old grandson were beside his bed at the hospital in Chennai. He was admitted on Tuesday. Kumaraswamy's brother-in-law and former director of Jayadeva Hospital, Dr CN Manjunath, said, "It won't be a long absence. He will be back in a few days."

FIR maybe filed against Hebbalkar for her meet with anganwadi workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

ELECTION Commission officials are likely to take up a case against Women and Child Welfare Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar for allegedly preparing to hold a meeting with anganwadi workers at a community hall here on Wednesday. The officials raided the hall, gathered evidence and stopped the meeting immediately for not taking prior permission and violating the model code of conduct.

Belagavi Deputy Commissioner Nitesh Patil, who is also the returning officer, said a case will be booked against organisers of the meeting after getting an approval from the court. Hundreds of anganwadi workers had gathered at the Samuday Bhawan in the Belagavi North constituency to participate in the meeting planned by Hebbalkar on Wednesday when the officials raided the spot and stopped it.

Patil told TNIE that all preparations had been made to hold the meeting without taking the permission of the authorities. "Our officers reached the spot, stopped the meeting and collected evidence. It is a violation of model code of conduct and a case will be booked after seeking court's permission," he said.

Reacting to the raid, Hebbalkar said, "I did not organise any meeting. Anganwadi workers are facing immense work pressure and now, they have been asked to take the responsibilities of booth level officers (BLOs) too. They workers came to meet me to discuss their problems working as BLOs. I convinced them to discharge their duties."

Asked about the complaint filed with the Election Commission that she held the meeting in violation of the model code, she said, "Let them (BJP) file complaints. It is a common issue during elections. Being in a responsible position, I respect the law of the country. It is my fifth election and I know how to face elections."

DISTRICT Election Officer, Bangalore District, Tushar Girinath said action will be taken. "We are looking into all aspects. Since we have been given 24 hours, we are working on it," he said. A senior officer with the CEO said that since the BJP leader has retracted her remarks, they will be taking a legal opinion. Meanwhile, taking to 'X', Karandlaje apologised for her remarks. "To my Tamil brothers & sisters, I wish to clarify that my words were meant to shine light, not cast shadows. Yet I see that my remarks brought pain to some - and for that, I apologize. My remarks were solely directed towards those trained in the Krishnagiri forest, linked to the Rameshwaram Cafe blast. To anyone from Tamil Nadu affected, from the depths of my heart, I ask your forgiveness. Furthermore, I retract my previous comments," she stated.

HAVERI TO SEE CHANGE IN CANDIDATES OF BJP, CONG?

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

THE Haveri Lok Sabha constituency may see a change in candidates, though names have already been announced.

Congress is thinking of convincing minister HK Patil to contest from here after BJP announced former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai as its candidate. But there is also talk within party circles that another former chief minister Jagadish Shettar may be asked to contest from here, replacing Bommai, but local leaders do not have any official information on that yet.

Though Shettar was expected to be a breeze-in for the Belagavi constituency, recent developments have made BJP leaders rethink their strategy. Some local party leaders in Belagavi have started a "Go back Shettar" campaign and put up banners on some main roads of the city.

In Haveri, Congress candidate Anandswamy Gaddadevarmath has already started his campaign, but party leaders feel he may not be a strong contender against Bommai. That is why, Patil is being convinced to contest, party sources said. Both the parties are working out the caste equations and collecting ground survey reports from all taluks. Congress is confident of winning this time as the district has more number of MLAs from Haveri and Gadag districts. The legislators have assured the party top leaders that they would work to ensure the victory of the party candidate. The Haveri constituency, which is the BJP stronghold, has over 6.5 lakh Lingayats, three lakh minorities, three lakh Kurubas, three lakh Muslims and others.

A BJP leader, requesting anonymity, said, "People will vote for Bommai, but we don't know about the candidature of Shettar from here. Since people vote for Modi in the Lok Sabha elections, our candidates are safe."

Anil Patil, a Congress leader from Haveri, said, "We are now campaigning for Anandswamy. We are confident of winning. People are giving a positive response and they may want a change this time."

WOMAN, TWIN SONS FOUND DEAD IN JP NAGAR HOUSE

Mystery surrounds deaths; Police don't rule out possibility of suicide; Burnt bodies found in the bedroom

RAKSHITH GOWDA @Bengaluru

IN a shocking incident, a woman and her two sons were found dead at their residence in JP Nagar on Wednesday morning. While the police have not ruled out the possibility of suicide, the autopsy and forensic reports are awaited to ascertain the cause of death.

The police identified the deceased as Sukanya (50) and her twin sons, Nikith (28) and Nishith (28). The family hailed from Udupi district. The initial probe revealed that the bodies were found in a burnt state in the bedroom but there was no evidence of petrol or LPG gas leakage. Sukanya's husband Jayananda was in the drawing room when the incident occurred.

The police said that it appears to be a suicide but they are awaiting the forensic reports to confirm the same. "It is suspected that they have used some inflammable chemical to immolate themselves. Experts will determine what chemical was used to end their lives," the police added.

A relative of the deceased said that the family had financial problems after the Covid-19 pandemic. "Jayananda was running a small-scale factory, which he had to shut down due to losses during the pandemic. The family had raised loans from banks and other sources but failed to repay the debt. The lenders were visiting his residence to recover the money," the family member added.

Nikith worked in an animation design company while Nishit, who was physically challenged, had completed Master of Computer Application (MCA) and secured a work-from-home job. Sukanya was taking tuition classes at home. The family, which lived elsewhere, had reportedly shifted to the rented house in JP Nagar III Phase, about three months ago.

A neighbour, who sent his son for tuition to Sukanya, said that the family seemed to be facing financial difficult as Sukanya was allegedly requesting her neighbours to give her Rs 500-1,000 on occasions.

Deputy Commissioner of Police of South Division, Shivaprakash Devraj, said that the initial probe had suggested that it was suicide and financial distress was suspected to be the reason. An unnatural death case is registered at JP Nagar police station, he added.

Woman kills 2-year-old daughter, tries to end life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 24-year-old woman allegedly killed her two-year-old daughter and then attempted to kill herself by slitting her throat due to frequent fights with her husband and in-laws. The incident happened in Seegehalli in KR Puram police station limits on March 17. The deceased child has been identified as Shrikita while her mother, Chinna, a homemaker, is undergoing treatment at a hospital.

The police said, "The incident came to light on the morning of March 17 when Lakshminarayan (31) found his 2-year-old daughter dead and his wife with her throat slit after returning from a temple." Lakshminarayan, a software engineer, immediately called his neighbours, who rushed his wife and child to a nearby hospital where the doctors declared his daughter dead.

The postmortem report revealed that Chinna had allegedly smothered her child with a pillow and then slit her throat and wrist with a knife. It is said that Chinna and Lakshminarayan had marital issues due to conflict with the latter's family members. The couple, who had been married for over three years, moved to Bengaluru from Chittoor in Andhra Pradesh in December due to arguments between Chinna and her husband's family.

'DSP's questioning in Bitcoin scam must'

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

IN a setback to Shridhar K Pujar, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Internal Security Division, Eastern Range, Davanagere, an accused in the Bitcoin scam who is absconding, the city civil and sessions court on Wednesday rejected his anticipatory bail petition in connection with his alleged attempt to murder an assistant sub-inspector, who was part of the Special Investigation Team (SIT) of Criminal Investigation Department probing the scam, when he went to arrest him, along with a police inspector.

LV Additional City Civil and Sessions Judge Shriram Narayan Hegde noted that the custodial interrogation of the accused is necessary since the allegations made against him in the Bitcoin and attempt-to-murder cases are serious.

Pujar stated in his bail petition that the car mentioned in the complaint did not belong to him. The public prosecutor has, however, produced a B-Register extract of the vehicle which was registered in the name of Pujar's wife along with the CCTV footage of the incident to show his involvement.

The court said the prosecution's apprehension cannot be ruled out as the accused, being a high-ranking police officer, could tamper with prosecution witnesses.

Pujar contended that he is continuously cooperating with the SIT by appearing before it more than 15 times.

Pujar had no intention to murder the complainant who didn't suffer any grievous injuries, he stated. But the Vidhana Soudha police, along with the SIT, have created the false story. During his service, he arrested murderers and gangsters and some enemies are now hand in glove with the police, he alleged.

Referring to the observations made by another city court while rejecting Pujar's anticipatory bail petition in the Bitcoin scam that there are prima facie materials against him, the court said Pujar has not appeared before the investigation officer even after the dismissal of his petition.

Assistant Sub-Inspector Bhaskar filed the complaint with the Vidhana Soudha police against Pujar on February 27, 2024, alleging that when he went near the City Civil Court along with Inspector Anil Kumar, accused Pujar, who was in the car with an advocate, abused them in filthy language. He suddenly dashed his car against the motorbike of the complainant who fell down. When they chased him till Coffee Board junction, Pujar, to commit the murder, allegedly drove his car rashly which led to the complainant hitting the other vehicles, resulting in injuries.

If the proposed system is already put in place, it shall be seen by the state that it works without any glitch, the court added. Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order, while declining to accept the request of the petition filed by 11 accused in RSS worker Praveen Nettaru's murder in Mangaluru in 2022, seeking directions to the IGP of the Department of Prisons and Correctional Services to transfer them from different jails to Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara in Bengaluru, considering their representation dated March 21, 2023.

The party has allotted the rest of the 18 seats in Tamil Nadu to Congress (9), CPI (2), CPM (2), VCK (2), MDMK (1), IUML (1), and KDMK (1). The party also released its poll manifesto, promising among other things, mandatory consultation with state governments on appointment of governors, abolition of Article 356 that allowed the centre to dismiss state governments, and statehood for Puducherry.

The opposition AIADMK on Wednesday named the first set of 16 candidates, including former MP J Jayavardhan and ex-MLA Dr P Saravanan, for the poll. The main opposition also finalised a seat-sharing arrangement with the DMDK. Announcing the electoral pact with the Captain's party at the AIADMK headquarters, party general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami said the DMDK would contest from Tiruvallur (SC), Central Chennai, Cuddalore, Thanjavur, and Virudhunagar constituencies. Calling the AIADMK a "natural ally", DMDK general secretary Premalatha Vijayakanth said a "big victory alliance" has again been formed like the one during the 2011 Assembly polls. "This victory alliance will continue in the 2026 Assembly polls too," she said.

Meanwhile, TNCC president K Selvaperunthagai said on Wednesday that the party will release its candidates list for the election on Thursday night.

No decision on alliance with BJD yet, says Amit Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhubaneswar

EVEN as the anxiety over a possible alliance between BJD and BJP is getting intense, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday said his party is yet to take a final call on the issue. Asserting the BJP will prove poll pundits wrong this time by significantly improving its position in Odisha both in Lok Sabha and Assembly, Shah said at the media conclave by a private TV channel in Delhi that negotiation with BJD is on but no decision has yet been taken on an alliance.

BJD leader and state 5T chairman VK Pandian on Tuesday had told the channel that the alliance talks are on right track and it is up to the prime minister to take the final decision. Shah, however, said, "It has not been finalised whether we will forge an alliance (with BJD) or will go alone in Odisha. Our party president will take a decision on the issue."

Asked if BJP was strong enough to form government in the state this time, Shah said, "Anything may happen. Let it be decided first whether there will be an alliance or we will go alone. If there is an alliance, we will fight together as Naveen Babu is a very popular leader. If we go solo then we will certainly fight to form government in the state." Shah said one thing is sure that the BJP is going improve its strength significantly in Odisha and will win more seats in Assembly and Lok Sabha irrespective of what the poll pundits have predicted. "People of the state have great love for Modi and BJP workers humbly accept their love and affection for the prime minister," he said.

Responding to the statement made by Pandian on the same platform that neither the BJD or BJP need an alliance to return to power in the state and the Centre respectively, Shah said it is not always necessary to forge an alliance to come to power. "Several parties have extended their support to the NDA government on issues of national importance be it GST, removal of Article 370 or bond (electoral). The Congress supported electoral bonds but now they are talking differently. There may be political differences but when it comes to national interest leaders irrespective of party lines should join hands," he said.

'Poll office nod needed to post advertorial content online'

SURYASEN said there are no guidelines or no definition for influencers. "We are requesting them and even warning them that if any violations are found, action will be taken under various acts, including IT, IPC and Representations of People's Act. There is a lot of gray area that is being addressed as and when things develop," he said.

Another official from the CEO's office said, "Earlier, WhatsApp and Facebook played a crucial role. Now, the list includes X and Reels. People spend a lot of screen time now watching Reels and that is one area that needs to be kept track of. Along with keeping a watch on paid messages on social media platforms, other forms of posts will also be scrutinised. There is also a rise in the number of bloggers, not just in urban areas, but even at the district level and they are being closely monitored. Anyone found guilty will be dealt with sternly."

Citing the example of the recent Hanuman Chalisa row, the election official said, "Cognisance has been taken of hate, religious and provocative speeches, where they were made and circulated. We do not want to disclose details on it at the moment, but we have taken note of such instances and action is being taken."

Addressing the issue of YouTubers at a workshop organised by the CEO office for district-level officials and media persons on Wednesday, Additional Chief Electoral Officer Venkatesh Kumar R said, "We cannot stop people speaking on YouTube, but the content will be monitored. If any violations are found, action will be taken. A rate card is already present for the social media platforms and before posting any advertorial content permission from the CEO office needs to be taken. Article 19 of the Constitution allows freedom of expression, but there are responsibilities and restrictions too."

ED finds car with Haris' sticker at Kerala bizman's residence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

INVESTIGATING a money laundering case against a Kasaragod-based businessman, the Enforcement Directorate (ED) has found a car with a sticker issued to Karnataka MLA and Congress leader NA Haris during a raid at the former's residence in Bengaluru.

The central agency carried out raids against Muhammad Hafeez at nine locations spread across Kerala, Karnataka and Goa. The raids lasted three days, starting from March 14. Hafeez allegedly extorted money from his father-in-law Abdul Lahir, a Dubai-based businessman who belongs to Aluva. Lahir alleged that Hafeez swindled Rs 108 crore from him citing various business ventures. He had gifted 1,000 sovereign gold as a wedding gift to Hafeez in 2017.

"During the search proceedings, it is revealed that Hafeez is using a vehicle displaying the official protocol sticker issued by the Karnataka Legislative Assembly in the name of NA Harris who is the MLA of Shanti Nagar constituency, Bengaluru. On further inquiry, it was revealed that the said vehicle was purchased by one Muhammad Haris Nalapad but registered in the name of Nafih Muhammad Naser, who is a close relative and political aid of NA Haris and cousin to Nalapad. Nalapad is currently serving as the general secretary of the Karnataka Youth Congress and is a close friend of Hafeez," the ED said in a statement.

The central agency also froze bank accounts, which include fixed deposits worth Rs 4.4 crore. Gold jewellery weighing 1,672.8 grams, currency notes worth Rs 12.5 lakh, seven mobile phones, and various incriminating documents were seized during the search.

"ED initiated an investigation based on FIRs registered by Kerala Police, Goa Police and Karnataka Police wherein it is alleged that Hafeez and his associates indulged in offences of cheating by impersonation, misappropriation of funds, forgery and fabrication of documents and extracted money worth Rs 108.37 crore from his in-laws with a view to meet unlawful demands for more dowry," the statement read.

Shobha booked by Madurai police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Madurai/Krishnagiri

The Madurai city police on Wednesday booked Union minister for state Shobha Karandlaje for her comment that the Bengaluru Rameshwaram Cafe bomber had received training in Krishnagiri, Tamil Nadu. Her comments drew widespread condemnation across Tamil Nadu, including from Chief Minister MK Stalin, demanding legal action for inflammatory statements which could lead to tension between Tamil Nadu and Karnataka.

Meanwhile, C Thiagarajan of Kadachanenthal in Madurai filed a complaint against the Union minister with the local police on Wednesday. Thiagarajan called the allegations baseless and said the case is still under investigation, and the comment could create friction between the people of Tamil people and Karnataka. The minister's comment also insinuated that people from Tamil Nadu are terrorists, he added.

Based on the complaint, the cyber crime police wing of Madurai booked her under several sections of the IPC, including 153 (a) which promotes enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race, place of birth, residence, language, and doing acts prejudicial to maintenance of harmony. It may be noted that the DMK has also urged the Election Commission of India to take action against the alleged hate speech. Commenting on the minister's allegation, Inspector General of Police (West Zone) K Bhavaneeswari and Krishnagiri SP P Thangadurai told TNIE on Wednesday that they have not received any information about the bombers being trained in a forest in Krishnagiri.

Retracts comment on X

Later on Wednesday, Shobha Karandlaje apologised for her remarks on X, saying that her words were meant to 'shine light and not cast shadows' on anyone. "My remarks were directed towards those trained in the Krishnagiri forest, linked to the Rameshwaram cafe blast. I have retracted my previous comment," she said.

Ballari's jeans industry faces acute water crisis

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

THE jeans industry in Ballari is facing the brunt of water crisis due to drought. The borewells in the district, which is home to over 100 jeans manufacturing units, is staring at an acute water shortage as the temperature has already starting peaking. The summer months are going to be tough for the industries to manage their businesses effectively, of the same situation continues. The units are now depending on water tankers which may not be a viable option in the long run.

Jeans Industry Welfare Association has requested the Ballari district administration to make alternative arrangements to solve the water crisis. Many units are situated along the Guggarahatti, Andhral and Airport Road.

It's a long-pending demand of the unit owners to provide a pipeline to the industrial area. The administration has been making assurances of setting up a jeans apparel park with a dedicated pipeline.

Pollux Mallikarjun, a jeans manufacturing unit owner, said their business has been severely impacted especially from the last 15 days. "It's for the first time that during the initial days of the summer itself we are facing water crisis. In our business, washing unit is an integral part of the manufacturing process. Every product needs 40 to 50 litres of water when put into the washing unit," he said. "Since the last 15 days, water level has drastically depleted in borewells and many borewells have gone completely dry. Every day, over 1,00,000 products are manufactured in Ballari. Each unit needs 4,000 to 5,000 litres of water which has become extremely difficult to source in the present condition," he added.

Another unit owner said, "If Hagari river has sufficient water, borewells located in the vicinity of the industries will get recharged. We request the administration to call a meeting with water tankers supply association".

Blazing summer, drought, water woes sting K'taka fire dept

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE scorching summer season has resulted in most lakes and borewells going dry. This has not just affected the thirsty citizens but has also become a cause of concern for the state Fire and Emergency Services Department as the summer months usually see an increase in the number of fire-related incidents.

In an exclusive interview with The New Indian Express, Kamal Pant, Director General of Police, Fire and Emergency Services, said that in some rural areas, the department normally gets water from lakes and other waterbodies. "We have special equipment to fill water from lakes and waterbodies in nearby areas. Even the tubewells and borewells available in the area are used to fill up the fire engines. But, if the summer continues like this, the water sources available in rural areas may go dry. In that case, we may face some difficulty, and we may be forced to source water from faraway locations. This could be a challenge," he added. He also added that due to the Union Government's policy of scrapping vehicles older than 15 years old, 64 fire tenders are off the roads. "In some places, we have only one fire tender, and that is an issue. So far, however, everything has been managed quite well," Pant elaborated.

SUMMER & FIRE

Total number of fire-related calls
2023	28,563
2024 (till March 11)	9,140

- Total fire stations: 216
- Total fire tenders operational: 234
- Total number of water bowsers: 34
- Officers, staff injured while fighting fire from January 2023 to March 11 2024: 26

On the situation in Bengaluru and the challenges faced by the department in such summer months, he said that the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) is taking care of supplying water to the department. The department has not faced any difficulty in the past, he added. "In case of any major fire emergency, we have our storage systems. We get water from almost every station, as each of them has storage tanks," he said. Pant said every apartment complex should also have a storage tank. "Apartment and commercial complexes should ensure that they have sufficient water in their fire reservoirs," he added.

On forest fires, which are common in the summer months, Pant said that the forest department has made elaborate arrangements and his department will continue to extend its support. With more village fairs lined up in the summer, he said enough fire tenders and manpower will be put into service. He also said that people should be alert and not carry inflammable items like matchboxes and cigarettes.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

OMBUDSMAN FOR AVIATION WILL BE A WELCOME MOVE

THE civil aviation ministry is seriously considering setting up an ombudsman for the industry for quick disposal of complaints and disputes with airlines and airports. Given the high level of consumer dissatisfaction, this would indeed be welcome. Airlines have their own internal complaint redress processes. There is also the aviation ministry's AirSewa helpline. However, these forums have not been able to address the large volume of grievances. The industry has seen an increasing duopoly, with IndiGo and the now the Tata-owned Air India dominating the skies. Reduced competition has pushed air fares to new highs, even as the quality of services has declined.

Among the biggest concerns are delays in flight schedules. Lack of airworthy planes and congestion at airports have made delayed departures almost endemic, taking a serious toll especially on business travellers. If it's the airline's fault, shouldn't it compensate the consumer? Flyers also find themselves forced to pay for 'extras' that normally should be rolled into the ticket price. For instance, at the time of web check-in, passengers are charged for 'choosing their seats'. The threshold for 'free' luggage has been reduced over the years to 15 kg—a ploy to impose a charge on 'excess' baggage. Refunds for cancellations or charges for schedule changes are an area of big disputes, too.

When passengers pay exorbitant sums for a flight, they have a right to basic services. If there is a default, the consumer must be compensated. High penalties also work as a deterrent for airlines and airports from messing up. But who is to bell the cat? The consumer affairs ministry has been proposing an ombudsman for the aviation industry for over a year now, and it is high time it is implemented. The introduction of an ombudsman in the banking sector has worked wonders. Disputes raised by consumers are settled in a one-month window and 'deficiency of service' attracts deterrent fines. Ombudsmen for insurance and electricity supply have also had a measure of success. Aviation across the world is facing a 40-50 percent increase in consumer complaints related to cancelled flights and lost baggage, though in most countries it is still the general consumer ombudsmen who are tasked to fast-track these disputes. If India sets up an aviation ombudsman, it may be the first country to do so. However, logistics could become a nightmare because of the sheer volume of disputes.

BRS SHIFTS MAY ALTER TELANGANA POLL-SCAPE

PERMUTATIONS and combinations are changing fast in the political landscape of Telangana just before the Lok Sabha elections. Though switching parties ahead of polls is common, it seems the ongoing defections in the state could have serious implications. At the receiving end is former Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao's BRS, which is finding it tough to keep its flock together. Several important leaders from the party have jumped ship either to the BJP or the Congress, unwilling to contest on behalf of the pink party.

This setback is understandable after the BRS lost the assembly polls. However, the problem is that the migratory birds are creating the perception that the battle ahead is mainly between the ruling Congress and the BJP. The saffron party, which inexplicably retreated in the assembly polls, appears to be gaining steam. Adding to this, for the first time, no one from the first family of BRS is likely to be in the fray. It betrays a fear that is percolating down to the lower rungs. The saga of former Wardhannapet MLA Aroori Ramesh perfectly encapsulates the current situation. BRS activists had to physically intervene and clash with BJP cadre to prevent him from walking over to the other side. It is unlikely he will stay put anyway. But it shows which way the wind is blowing. The fight is clearly between the BJP and the Congress to capture a lion's share of the BRS vote bank. It is ironic, since the difference between the Congress and the BRS in the assembly polls was just about 2 percent. That the BJP is now aiming for 12 of the state's 17 Lok Sabha seats indicates it's gearing up to nudge the BRS and emerge as the main opposition party. It had won four Lok Sabha seats in 2019 with around 20 percent vote share.

For the Congress, especially Chief Minister Revanth Reddy, this election will be a litmus test. A lot depends on Revanth turning on his magic against the BJP, which is heavily counting on Narendra Modi's popularity. It is already going to town with 'Modi ki guarantee' and 'Ramji ki prasad'. Revanth has been making the right moves since forming the government, but water and power issues, if not addressed, can dash his hopes of a sweep. If he fails to win big, it might dent his party's prospects at the Centre.

QUICK TAKE

END THE FOOD FIGHTS

EVEN if India is overwhelmingly non-vegetarian, Zomato's launch of a separate 'pure veg' service is just a digital extension of the country's analogue reality. If there is a thriving market, one that has been treated as a distinct segment around the country for long, it makes eminent business sense to cater to it via an app, too. What is worrying are the neighbourhood veg vigilantes who are prepared to shed blood for the sake of a vague idea of ambient 'purity', disallowing non-vegetarian neighbours and delivery workers. Let there be tolerance among the followers of different food cultures and let this WhatsApp war subside.

The Bihar caste census may presage a change in the political chemistry between communities and parties at the coming elections in the state. It revealed some faultlines too

POLITICS OF POSITIVE DISCRIMINATION FOR THE IDEA OF INDIA

DM DIWAKAR

Former Director, A N Sinha Institute of Social Studies, Patna

SOURAV ROY

THE caste survey conducted by the government of Bihar in 2023 set off a series of political aftershocks. First, the state cabinet decided to enhance caste-based reservation from 50 percent to 65 percent, and added 10 percent for the economically weaker sections. Then it formed the basis for the INDIA bloc, especially the Congress, to take it up as a national issue. The moves are efforts at achieving development with justice through positive discrimination.

The Preamble to the Constitution embodies the considered idea of India, which emerged through rigorous informed deliberations during the freedom struggle and was consolidated in the Constituent Assembly debates. After independence, India adopted a course of democracy and moved ahead step by step to realise those dreams of liberty, equality and fraternity through the creation of democratic values, institutions, laws and policies to address the challenge of correcting historical discriminations.

In order to bring the marginalised into the mainstream of development, the numbers of the caste census of 1931 were taken into consideration, as there was no other authentic data available—that is, till the Bihar census. The initiatives of positive discrimination got space, and many committees and commissions were put in place at the Centre as well as in states towards achieving this goal.

The initiatives included reservation for the Scheduled Castes (SC), Scheduled Tribes (ST) and the Other Backward Classes (OBC). Further re-categorisation of the OBCs into the so-called creamy and non-creamy layers, extremely backward classes (EBC) and non-EBCs was also based on such extrapolation.

Therefore, fresh data on the distribution and structure of castes in India is the need of the hour. The Bihar survey provided a new dataset for the state with wider caste configurations, going ahead with 215 sub-castes even after the Rohini Commission's deliberations, keeping in mind positive discrimination for delivering development with justice.

The to-and-fro on the Bihar census was revealing. It was the Tejashwi Yadav-led Rashtriya Janata Dal that first raised the call for caste to be included in the 2021 census. Nitish Kumar followed suit and the proposal was moved in the state assembly and council on February 18, 2019; it was passed unanimously for recommendation to the Centre and a letter dated April 8 was sent. The support was reiterated unanimously on February 27, 2020 and the recommendation resent. An all-party delegation met the PM on August 23, 2021 to press the issue.

However, the BJP government at the Centre developed cold feet. Given the pandemic and other issues, it has not been able to conduct even the 2021 national census till date. This was the first time in the history of Indian census that a central government, voted to power with a clear majority, could not conduct the census in time. This provided an edge to the RJD-Janata Dal (United) combine to conduct the caste survey in Bihar. Although a saffron outfit went to court against the survey and the high court stayed it, the Supreme Court vacated the stay.

The survey conducted included salient caste-based indicators such as residential status, occupational structure, employment, monthly income, educational status and migration—besides counting citizens by the 215 caste categories. The report provides valuable inputs about many sub-castes. BCs and EBCs in the state constitute 27.13 percent and 36.01 percent, respectively. Among the BCs, Yadavs emerged with the highest population share at 14.27 percent, followed by Kushwaha (4.21 percent), Kurmi (2.87 percent), and Bania (2.31 percent). Among the EBCs, Telis emerged with the highest share (2.81 percent), followed by Mallah (2.61 percent). Among the SCs, the Dusadh, Dhari and Dharhi have the largest presence in the state with 5.31 percent, followed by the Chamar, Mochi, Rabidas, Rohidas and Charmakar with 5.26 percent, and Musahar with 3.09 percent.

Muslims constitute 17.71 percent of the population, but after this survey, they are no longer a monolithic category. The non-general castes among Muslims emerged as a 12.92 percent chunk, and general-caste Muslims constitute only 4.79 percent. Hence, the Pasmandas will have a stronger voice in their solidarity with the politics of BCs and EBCs.

Thus, political polarisation on the basis of religion may get diluted in Bihar after this survey. Moreover, the switching over of Nitish Kumar to the NDA before the general elections cemented the Muslims' alliance with the INDIA bloc, and the division of secular votes by Nitish Kumar in favour of the BJP will be relatively difficult. Thus the caste survey may have reconfigured the political chemistry and social engineering needed in seat- and power-sharing as well.

The survey also reveals the caste-wise break-up of living conditions in terms of the highest incidences of poverty, with low education and poor residential conditions among the BCs, EBCs and SCs, despite an appreciable growth of infrastructure in Bihar with previous 'double-engine' governments. That's why the BJP-led NDA government at the Centre did not want to get any uncomfortable data through the census in general and a caste census in particular before the parliamentary elections this year.

Rahul Gandhi has been trying to connect with people across India through his yatras, where he has been categorically assuring people that his combine would conduct a caste census, bring a law for minimum support prices, provide 30 lakh jobs every year and assured income to women. It remains to be seen whether these assurances would have a positive impact in upcoming elections.

It was difficult for the BJP to denounce a caste census publicly, but it tried to change the political narrative through the politicisation of the Ram temple consecration, uniform civil code discussion, and Citizenship (Amendment) Act notification. It shows that the BJP does not want to leave any stone unturned to turn the tide in its favour despite having adverse hard facts on the economy. The government announced relatively early that it would continue the free ration scheme for about 800 million people, which itself is an acknowledgement of the crisis for the majority of the masses even after a decade of 'Sabka saath, sabka vikas'.

IF Narendra Modi wins for the third time, equalling Jawaharlal Nehru's record, he will be realising a long-cherished personal dream. In historical terms, it could also mean the end of Nehruvian India in one specific sense: the withering of the Congress as a national party. That is why 2024 is a crossroads election.

Last Sunday at Mumbai's Shivaji Park, when Rahul Gandhi ended his second yatra, all opposition leaders on stage said, not without a touch of nostalgia, that a third term for Modi would be the end of India as we know it. Yet, the problem is that in the matter of seat allocation, regional parties cannot be too generous with the Congress because it would hurt their existence. This dilemma is a direct result of the weakening of the mother party, which is what the Congress was for a good while.

The BJP's stated objective of a Congress-free India is a potent one, not just because they would like to free modern Indian history that lionises the roles of the Nehrus and the Gandhis—that is, free it from anglicised dynasts and their equally colonised cohorts. The BJP, naturally, would like to rewrite history with a more indigenised ink. Out of that ink flows new names, new people and an alternative history. For history is not always what happened, it is what is written. As Gabriel García Márquez said, it is not what happened, it is how you remember it. The dramatis personae of a Congress-free India are led by Modi.

A Congress-free India is not just a Nehru-free India. It is an opposition-less India. If the Congress performs poorly in the coming elections, the political vacuum it would create is not easily filled by any of the regional parties. Friends and enemies are born of needs and transactions. With a very powerful BJP at the Centre and the absence of a functional Congress, regional parties must work at new equations of reconciliation with the dominant national power. Many regional parties may find their identity attenuated or altered. In effect, with a few maverick, unpredictable exceptions like Arvind Kejriwal or Mamata Banerjee in the North and Dravidian-identity politicians like M K Stalin in the South, there is a strong possibility the political vacuum created by a possible decimation of the Congress would lead naturally to an electoral autocracy. This would be legal, but not just.

To my mind, this is the larger game-plan of the BJP. If opinion polls are any indication, the chances are that Modi will win the election; the BJP is projected to secure more than 300 seats. Certainly, they are likely to win enough to justify changes to the Indian Constitution. In a recent interview, Congress leader P Chidambaram talked about 'major amendments' in the event of a third Modi term.

PTI

> As several leaders said at the recent INDIA rally in Mumbai, a third term for Modi would mean a break with India's past. If the Congress withers further as a national party, the regional parties would need to forge new equations with the dominant national power

In the face of that probable outcome, the opposition in general should be formulating a strategy on how to subsist the next five years. Although their pronouncements make it clear they are aware of the situation, they do not appear to have a fallback plan in the event of a Congress annihilation. Even for Karnataka, the only rich state where the party is in power, things might change if the BJP wins. Admittedly, this is a dystopian future. But it exists somewhere in the wings as a new act. If it has the least chance of emerging on the centre-stage, the regional parties must take it seriously and draw up plans besides just hoping for the best.

The BJP's strategy of othering minorities like Muslims—without which they cannot optimise the Hindutva game-plan—is not likely to abate a third Modi term. The sustained consolidation of Hindu core votes demands it. It is as if the 4 percent 'Hindu growth rate'—a term economist Raj Krishna coined in 1978 to explain our reluctant economy—can be improved only if the Mughal phase of Indian history with all its excesses and lapses can be embodied in the present generation of Muslims. Despite the alienation, the community, possibly hoping against hope, has not consolidated its vote in favour of the Congress.

If the BJP wins, the rupture with the old, easy-going India would be final. There would be prosperity, but it would come with a certain mutation in the genomic code that was at the heart of the Indian social and political reality.

It is not as if the Congress is going out of its way to win the alienated Muslim votes either. At Sunday's INDIA rally in Mumbai, the only Muslim leader with some measure of visibility on stage was Farooq Abdullah, hardly a man with a pan-national or even pan-Kashmir image.

Modi, in his pran pratishta speech at Ayodhya, said people would remember the ceremony as the auspicious beginning of the next 1,000 years of a new India. The dread one feels is at the foreclosed nature of the future. It is somewhat like entering a tunnel—an interminably long, well-lit tunnel, but a tunnel nevertheless.

The Congress's one hope is that Rahul Gandhi's seemingly endless walks effect a conversion of the Muslim, Dalit, and other minority votes in his party's favour. If that happens, the party will have a fresh lease. This is an uncertain possibility.

The BJP dispensation has made great use of State apparatuses to work its way towards building a new State. It has been a subversion of nearly consummate artistry. The elections begin on April 19. The result would decide whether we make a complete rupture with the past, or stay in a hopefully improved continuation. A country and its people are about to be redefined.

Candidate accountability

Ref: Pluck low-hanging fruits first on campaign reforms (Mar 19). Unrealistic promises will be reduced when elected representatives are pushed to publish manifestos followed by a report on the promises fulfilled. Educating voters on essential information about the contesting candidates will help them make informed choices, as was rightly mentioned.
P Prema, Thanjavur

No clarification

The ruling party at the Centre stands abjectly exposed by the data revealed by the SBI about electoral bonds. The PM said at a public meeting that no corrupt person would be spared. Instead of offering clarity, his utterances amount to taking the public for granted.
A G Rajmohan, Chennai

Environmentally conscious

Posters, banners, and festoons traditionally used during campaigning not only deface public places but are also not environment-friendly. Use of such materials should be kept to a minimum and more environmentally conscious campaign strategies should be used by parties using technology.

Dynastic politics

A majority of candidates fielded by the Congress for the Lok Sabha elections in Karnataka are the kith and kin of senior leaders and ministers. Dynastic politics is thriving. Only those who have money and influence can expect to contest elections. Once elected, these representatives strive hard to recover their investment by indulging in corruption.
S Ravindranath, Bengaluru

Polling date

It is the prerogative of the Election Commission to draw up the schedule of elections. In such a massive exercise, it will obviously not be able to satisfy all sections. Therefore, Muslim organisations and the Congress asking for a change in polling dates seems to be just a case of appeasement. People offer Friday prayers maybe for an hour. It should not be a problem, as there would be the rest of the day to vote.

Credibility hit

Tamilisai Soundararajan resigning as governor to contest elections has serious implications for the image of the office she occupied. Heads of states are required to rise above party politics so they are seen as being impartial and fair in discharging their functions. Such instances rob the credibility of a constitutional office.

■ Govt defends appointment of 2 ECs by a selection panel that excludes CJI ■ SC says keeping accused in custody without trial is akin to detention, hampers liberty

Centre opposes pleas to cancel EC appointments

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Central government on Wednesday filed an affidavit before the Supreme Court defending a 2023 Act that dropped the Chief Justice of India (CJI) from the selection panel appointing Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) and Election Commissioners (EC).

In its reply, the Centre opposed the demand of the batch of pleas to cancel the appointment of Election Commissioners for not including the CJI in the selection panel.

Refuting the petitioners argument that the commission can be independent only when it has judges in the selection committee, the Centre said, "This argument by the petitioners is wrong. The purpose of the petitioners was to create political controversy. The pleas are only filed for garnering political mileage."

The Centre also defended the appointment of the two ECs by a panel that excludes the CJI.

It said that the deliberations of the high-level committee under the Chief Election Commissioner and Other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Act, 2023, are collaborative, and discussions occur at the actual meeting.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to hear on Thursday the batch of pleas challenging the Act of dropping CJI from the panel to select the CEC and ECs.

Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Gyanesh Kumar

The Act had been challenged before the top court by various petitioners, including the Association for Democratic Reforms, Congress leader Jaya Thakur, and petitioners Sanjay Narayanrao Meshram, Dharmendra Singh Kushwaha and Advocate Gopal Singh.

Although the top court had earlier refused to stay the implementation of the Act, it had said that it would examine the matter at a later stage and thereby issued notice to the Centre and sought a response in April.

The Supreme Court, in an order on Wednesday, granted the National Investigation Agency (NIA) two more weeks to reply to the bail plea filed by Professor Hany Babu, an accused in the 2018 Bhima Koregaon violence case. Hany Babu is accused of attempting to wage war against the Government of India, amongst other charges. Babu, a former Delhi University associate professor, is in jail since July 2020, with the high court rejecting his bail plea after it was opposed by the NIA, which claimed that he is a member of the banned Communist Party of India (Maoist).

Court to list today pleas against political parties doling out poll-time freebies

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday agreed to list on Thursday a batch of PILs (public interest litigations) against the practice of political parties promising freebies to voters during elections.

One of the pleas was filed by BJP leader and lawyer Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay, who sought a direction to the Election Commission of India to deregister political parties involved in distributing freebies from public funds during elections and seize their symbols.

The lawyer on Wednesday requested the three-judge bench, led by the Chief Justice DY Chandrachud and also comprising Justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Misra, an early listing and hearing into the case.

"This is important. We will take this onboard tomorrow," the CJI said after hearing it.

The plea said that if political parties try to gain undue favours in lieu of such measures, they should be banned.

"These freebies violate the Constitution. The Election Commission should take suitable deterrent measures against the concerned political parties and leaders involved in these activities," the plea said.

Earlier, the court had, in one of its hearings, observed that the issue of freebies promised by political parties during election campaigns requires extensive debate, and referred the case to a three-judge bench.

The plea had claimed that political parties arbitrarily promising freebies for wrongful gain to their leaders and to lure voters is analogous to bribery and undue influences.

ED draws flak for keeping accused in custody indefinitely

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday slammed the Enforcement Directorate (ED) for keeping accused persons in its custody indefinitely without putting them to trial.

"Keeping an accused in custody without the trial is akin to detention, which hampers liberty," the two-judge bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Datta remarked.

The bench made strong observations in response to a default bail plea filed by former Jharkhand chief minister Hemant Soren's alleged associate Prem Prakash.

Prakash was arrested by the ED in August 2022. Two AK-47 rifles, 60 live rounds, two magazines and some other incriminating documents were recovered by the probe agency at his residence. He was charged by the ED for allegedly involving in offences of money laundering and Arms Act.

While taking exception to the fact that the ED filed successive supplementary charge sheets in many cases, the apex court asked the Additional Solicitor General SV Raju appearing for the ED, "We are putting you (ED) on notice. You cannot arrest a person without investigation in the case being complete. A person cannot be put in custody without the commencement of trial. It is akin to detention. This also affects the liberty of an individual."

The court pointed out that an accused cannot be denied the benefit of default bail. It went on to add that the whole object of default bail is to prevent the ED from making arrests before the completion of the probe.

Justice Khanna said the petitioner has been behind bars for 18 months and supplementary chargesheets are being filed one after the other, which is eventually delaying the trial.

Default bail

The court pointed out that an accused cannot be denied the benefit of default bail. It went on to add that the whole object of default bail is to prevent the ED from making arrests before the completion of the probe.

FORCES TOLD TO KEEP WATCH ON CASH FLOW

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission has directed the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), Airports Authority of India (AAI) and Bureau Civil Aviation Security to keep an eye on aircraft and helicopters to ensure that nobody is allowed to carry cash illegally during the poll process.

The Election Commission of India has also asked the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) to deploy sleuths at airports for the purpose.

The CBDT has announced that in its bid to assist the Election Commission in curbing black money in elections, the directorate of income tax (investigation), Delhi, has opened a 24X7 control room at Civic Centre, New Delhi, and issued a toll-free number (1800112300) where anyone can give any information regarding suspicious movement of cash, bullion and other valuables within the National Capital Region of Delhi.

"Residents can contact the toll-free number, and callers to the control room need not disclose any personal details. What is vital is that the information received is credible and actionable," it said.

Officials in the CISF headquarters said that airline companies and operators of chartered flights have been directed to declare the contents of the baggage and suitcases carried by them to the income tax department, poll officials and police.

The Bureau Civil Aviation Security has been assigned to conduct surprise inspections of the airports to ensure compliance of the directions given to other agencies involved in the civil aviation sector.

Voting for the Lok Sabha elections, as well as assembly polls in four states, will be held in seven phases between April 19 and June 1. The counting of votes will take place on June 4.

Ayodhya decked up for Ram Navami on April 17, Modi may attend celebrations

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & NAMITA BAJPAI @ New Delhi/Lucknow

OVER two months after the consecration of the Ram idol on January 22, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is likely to visit Ayodhya for Ram Navami on April 17. This visit, if it happens, will be Modi's first to the temple since the ceremony, coinciding with the end of the first phase of Lok Sabha election campaigning in Uttar Pradesh.

Ram Navami, a significant Hindu festival celebrating Lord Ram's birth, gains extra importance with the potential visit of the PM amidst an election season, although official confirmation is pending.

A credible source mentioned that the BJP is expected to organise largescale celebrations in Ayodhya and nationwide on April 17, coinciding with the first Ram Navami since the installation of the Ram Lalla idol in the temple on January 22. This significant observance is set to feature a variety of activities, including devotional songs, lantern festivals, and the chanting of Ram Charitmanas along with other sacred Vedic hymns honouring the deity. Additionally, it is anticipated that the Prime Minister will deliver a speech at a substantial public gathering as part of his visit.

Sources close to the government suggest Modi's visit aims to offer prayers at the Ram temple, marking a significant day of celebration. This follows the the Ram idol's consecration, attended by Modi, which symbolised a major promise fulfilled by his party, the BJP. The event was a moment of Hindu awakening, attracting over 90 million viewers.

The visit's timing is strategic, aligning with the end of campaign activities for eight constituencies in Uttar Pradesh.

The day is expected to draw a large crowd of devotees, amplifying the semi-religious fervour seen during the consecration ceremony. This visit not only reinforces Modi's devotional stance but also serves as a powerful symbol in the BJP's narrative, especially amidst the electoral milieu.

Preparations are also underway to ensure that sunlight directly falls on Lord Ram's idol in the sanctum sanctorum (like in Odisha's Konark temple) during his 'Surya Abhishek' at around 12 noon on April 17.

The Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust, along with the Central Building Research Institute, Roorkee, is working on this initiative.

IAF augments operational capability, Chetak helicopter unit moved to TN

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a bid to enhance its operational capabilities in the southern region, the Indian Air Force on Tuesday deployed its Chetak helicopter unit at Air Force Station at Thanjavur in Tamil Nadu.

Confirming the "recent redeployment of IAF assets," the air force said on Wednesday, "Induction of the helicopter unit at Thanjavur would ensure availability of sufficient resources with Southern Air Command (SAC) headquarters to enhance operational capabilities as well as meet the peacetime tasks of search and rescue, humanitarian assistance and disaster relief and casualty evacuation."

Sources confirmed that it is the Chetak helicopters that have been relocated from the Western Air Command of IAF.

The induction was done in the presence of Air Marshal B Manikantan, the Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief, SAC.

The SAC was established in July 1984 in response to certain geopolitical developments to ensure effective command and control of IAF assets and facilitate quick deployment of combat forces in the event of threats developing in the Indian Ocean Region. It was created to effectively defend the island territories and protect the country's exclusive economic zones.

The IAF's SAC covers the geopolitical area of peninsular India, extending to Andaman and Nicobar Islands in the Bay of Bengal and Lakshadweep Islands in the Arabian Sea.

The move comes soon after Indian Navy's recent commissioning of its new base, INS Jatayu, at Minicoy Island in Lakshadweep.

Minicoy is the southernmost island of Lakshadweep, which straddles the vital Sea Lines of Communications (SLOC). As per the Navy, basing of an independent Naval unit with requisite infrastructure and resources will enhance its overall operational capability in the islands.

"The base will enhance operational reach and facilitate Indian Navy's operational effort towards anti-piracy and anti-narcotics operations in the Western Arabian Sea. It will also augment the Navy's capability as the first responder in the region and augment connectivity with the mainland."

It would strengthen the Navy's presence in the strategically important Lakshadweep.

Southern Air Command

The Chetak helicopter unit has been transferred to IAF's Southern Air Command (SAC). India test-fires 1st indigenous engine for battle tanks

MAYANK SINGH & KARTHIK K K
@ New Delhi/ Mysuru

DEFENCE PSU Bharat Earth Movers Limited (BEML) on Wednesday carried out the maiden test-firing of India's first indigenously made 1500 HP engine for main battle tanks. This is of utmost importance for the country as it had lacked engine-related technology. "The achievement heralds a new era in the country's defence capabilities, showcasing the technological prowess and commitment to self-reliance in defence technologies," the Ministry of Defence (MoD) said.

The test-firing was conducted at BEML's engine division in the presence of Defence Secretary Giridhar Aramane.

On the 1500 HP engine, the MoD said that the engine represents "a paradigm shift in military propulsion systems, possessing cutting-edge features such as high power-to-weight ratio, operability in extreme conditions including high altitudes, sub-zero temperatures and desert environments."

NEW ENGINE REFLECTS PARADIGM SHIFT: MOD

On the 1500 HP engine, the Ministry of Defence said that the engine represents "a paradigm shift in military propulsion systems, possessing cutting-edge features such as high power-to-weight ratio, operability in extreme conditions including high altitudes, sub-zero temperatures and desert environments." Equipped with advanced technologies, the engine stands on par with the most advanced engines globally, it said.

Equipped with advanced technologies, the engine stands on par with the most advanced engines globally, the MoD said.

Inaugurating the Test Cell, the defence secretary described the achievement as a transformative moment that will enhance the capabilities of the Armed Forces.

BEML CMD Shantanu Roy stated that the accomplishment solidifies BEML's position as a key contributor to defence production in the country, underscoring its commitment to serving the nation's needs in this critical sector.

Informing about the phases of development, MoD said, "The first test-firing of the 1500 HP engine signifies the completion of Generation One, focusing on technology stabilisation. Generation Two will see BEML producing engines for various trials at Combat Vehicles Research and Development Establishment, a DRDO laboratory, and their integration into actual vehicles for user testing. The project is slated for completion by mid-2025."

The project, initiated in August 2020, has been meticulously structured into five major milestones, ensuring timely completion and adherence to quality standards.

The defence secretary also inaugurated the 'Wall of Fame' to recognise the extraordinary efforts of the BEML team. It symbolises their contribution towards advancing the defence capabilities of the country and achieving milestones in indigenous technological innovation.

Danish Ali, who was suspended from BSP for 'anti-party activities', with Congress leader Sonia Gandhi. He is likely to contest the elections from Amroha | X.COM

Abdul Khaleque, Barpeta MP who resigned from Cong last wk, withdraws his resignation

Cong ropes in Danish Ali and Pappu Yadav

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a boost to the Congress ahead of the Lok Sabha elections, the party inducted new members and two regional parties into its fold on Wednesday. The prominent among the new joiners include Lok Sabha MP Danish Ali, who was suspended from the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) for indulging in "anti-party activities". The Congress is likely to field Ali from Amroha, his current Lok Sabha seat.

Last week, Ali met Congress leader Sonia Gandhi and sought her 'blessings'. His entry into the party was much speculated after he joined Rahul Gandhi-led Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra in Manipur, saying he would be "failing in his duty as a politician if he did not become a part of the biggest drive for unity and justice". Speaking to the media, Ali said: "On the one side, there is divisive ideology and on the other hand, the ideology represented by the Congress fighting for the rights of those exploited and marginalised. The choice was clear for me," he said.

In another development, Lok Sabha MP from Assam's Barpeta Abdul Khaleque, who resigned from the Congress last week, withdrew his resignation, saying that the need of the hour is to strengthen the party.

Khaleque had resigned from the party over being denied a ticket after the party released its second list of candidates.

The regional parties which merged with the grand old party include the Jan Adhikar Party (JAP) from Bihar headed by five-time MP Pappu Yadav.

Speaking to reporters after the merger, Yadav said that he always felt ideologically closer to the Congress. Though Yadav had won from Madhepura seat on an RJD ticket in 2014, in 2019, he lost to the RJD candidate there. The Jammu and Kashmir based Dogra Swabhiman Sangathan party led by former MP Lal Singh is the other regional outfit which merged with the Congress. Singh, a two-time former Congress MP from Udhampur seat, said that it was a homecoming for him.

A three-time MLA and party whip of the BJP in Jharkhand assembly Jai Prakash Patel, who joined the Congress earlier in the day, said that under current circumstances in the county, Congress was the only alternative.

ELECTION 2024 DECIDE

Third Front in J&K?

As the Election Commission has sounded poll bugle, there is possibility of emergence of "Third Front" in Jammu and Kashmir comprising three parties, which are critical to both the National Conference and the PDP, and the three parties may enter into seat sharing agreement for three-Valley seats by fielding the candidates for one seat each.

Chirag holds on to Hajipur seat

LJP (Ram Vilas) chief and Jamui MP Chirag Paswan said that he is ready to face his uncle and former union minister Pashupati Kumar Paras, who has repeatedly said that he would not leave the Hajipur seat. Chirag said that it was upto his uncle Paras to decide, however Chirag would seek his renomination from there despite the obstacle created by his uncle.

2 BJP MPs file nomination

Two BJP candidates – sitting MP Himadri Singh and fresh face Dr Rajesh Mishra filed nominations from Shahdol-ST and Sidhi seats of Vindhya region on Wednesday. Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Dr Mohan Yadav mocked at the Congress over delay in naming candidates and its senior leaders shying away from contesting the polls. the Congress has named only ten candidates so far out of the 28 seats.

Remove unauthorised political ads, EC tells states

Cracking the whip, the Election Commission on Wednesday asked state governments to take down all unauthorised political advertisements from government, public and private properties and send a compliance report in the next 24 hours. The Congress had recently raised the issue with the poll panel. The Commission said it has taken a "serious note" of the non-compliance of its instructions.

MAHARASHTRA

Fadnavis, Ajit go all-out to quell Maha dissents

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AS the ruling Mahayuti alliance in Maharashtra is facing rebellion in several Lok Sabha constituencies, CM Eknath Shinde, and deputy chief ministers Devendra Fadnavis and Ajit Pawar have reached out to dissident leaders to pacify them.

Fadnavis and Pawar called separate meetings of the rebels at their bungalows at Malabar Hill in Mumbai. Fadnavis met former deputy chief minister Vijaysingh Mohite Patil and Ramraje Nimbalkar whose relatives are keen to contest the Madha Lok Sabha constituency where BJP has already renominated its MP Ranjeet Naik Nimbalkar.

Mohite Patil's nephew Dhaval Singh Mohite Patil has already started campaigning in Madha. Shinde-led Shiv Sena leader Vijay Shivtare has also announced his candidature from Baramati against Mahayuti candidate Sunetra Pawar, wife of Ajit Pawar. Shinde called him twice to his residence and asked his not to contest, but he is adamant to defeat Ajit's wife. On Ajit's request, Fadnavis has taken up the task to pacify Shivtare.

Fadnavis also met former minister Harshavardhan Patil and his daughter Ankita on Wednesday and requested them to campaign for Ajit's wife forgetting their past animosity. In Maval, Ajit Pawar-led NCP MLA Sunil Shelake has threatened that if Vijay Shivtare refuses to withdraw his candidature, he will also contest against the ruling alliance candidate. In Kalyan also, NCP leader Anant Paranjape has threatened to contest against Shinde's son Srikant Shinde.

HIMACHAL PRADESH

Rift not over yet as Pratibha Singh won't be in fray

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

HIMACHAL Pradesh Congress unit president Pratibha Singh, who is the sitting MP from Mandi constituency, has refused to contest the Lok Sabha elections, indicating that the infighting in the party is not over yet.

"I have refused to contest the elections. I have been out in the field and have seen the ground situation. I don't think we will be able to achieve much success, so I have decided to withdraw my name," Singh said after returning from Delhi on Tuesday.

Singh along with chief minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu attended the Congress Working Committee (CWC) and the central election committee meetings in Delhi.

"The circumstances are not conducive for me to contest the elections. I do not see any worker who will actively work for the party. We win elections on the back of these workers and not by just distributing funds from the MP fund. Had the people I had recommended were given responsibility in time, they would have come out and worked for the party," she said.

Singh claimed that she will have to give importance to the by-elections to save the government. "We will try and assuage the hurt feelings of the workers, and work to save the government," she said.

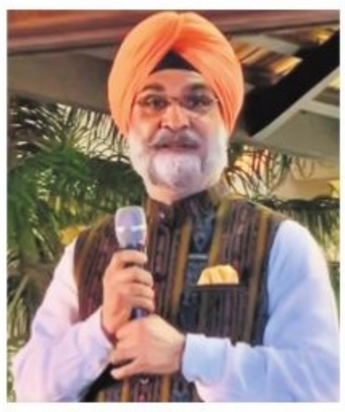
Bypolls will be held for six assembly seats in Himachal after the speaker disqualified six Congress MLAs for voting for the BJP candidate in the recent Rajya Sabha lections.

Can Taranjit break 'outsider' tag if BJP fields him from Amritsar?

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE BJP's recent induction of Taranjit Singh Sandhu, a former Indian Ambassador to the United States, hints at a strategic move to potentially nominate him for the Lok Sabha seat in Amritsar. Although Sandhu is also speculated to be a contender for the Chandigarh parliamentary seat, he has almost confirmed his interest in contesting from Amritsar.

However, this decision comes with its set of challenges, especially considering the party's history with 'outsider' candidates in the region. Previous instances, such as the unsuccessful candidacies of BJP stalwarts Arun Jaitley in 2014 and Union Cabinet Minister Hardeep Puri in 2019, underscore the risks involved. Both contests resulted in losses for the BJP, highlighting a pattern of resistance against parachuted candidates in Amritsar.



The dilemma between choosing a local versus an outsider candidate has led to a division within the party. Winning back the Amritsar seat, last won by Navjot Singh Sidhu in 2009 before his switch to the Congress, remains a priority for the BJP. The current representative, Congress MP Gurjeet Singh Aujla, adds to the challenge.

Sandhu's connections to Amritsar, through his familial ties to prominent Sikh leader Teja Singh Samundri and educationist Bishan Singh Samundri, may offer a unique advantage.

Yet, the general dissatisfaction with 'outsider' candidates in both Amritsar and neighbouring Gurdaspur poses significant hurdles.

The BJP's experience with Sunny Deol in Gurdaspur, who has been criticized for his absence post-election, further complicates the scenario.

Internal voices within the BJP express concerns over this strategy, highlighting the need for a candidate who is both accessible and approachable.

BJP strategist picks up key candidates

BJP's national general secretary Vinod Tawde has been instrumental in selecting suitable candidates for the party in the Lok Sabha polls. Despite strong opposition from BJP minister Girish Mahajan, Tawde ensured tickets for NCP (SP) leader Eknath Khadse's daughter-in-law and BJP Lok Sabha MP Rakasha Khadse in Raver, as well as for Smita Wagh in Jalgaon. Following BJP's announcement, Eknath and his daughter Rohini Khadse, president of the NCP women's wing in the state, declined to contest against Raksha.

Mumbai BJP leadership faces tough decisions

The top leadership of the BJP has decided to replace BJP Lok Sabha MP Poonam Mahajan due to negative feedback from a survey. They have asked Mumbai BJP president Ashish Shelar to contest in place of Poonam for the Mumbai North Central seat. However, Shelar is hesitant to contest due to the unfavourable demographic composition of the Mumbai North Central constituency, where half of the population belongs to minority communities. It was previously represented by late Sunil Dutt.

Sharad Pawar's politics shaped by mom ideology

Sharad Pawar's political journey has been greatly influenced by his mother, Sharadhabai Pawar, and her ideology. She was a local body member during colonial India when Pawar was just a few months old, often bringing him along to her meetings. When Ajit Pawar decided to leave his 83-year-old uncle, Sharad Pawar, to join hands with the BJP, Sharad Pawar's sister, Saroj Patil, spent the entire day in tears due to the division within the Pawar family. Despite her distress, her brother called and comforted her, reminding her of their mother.

Poll knot: Bihar life convict weds Delhi lawyer, couple seeks Lalu blessing

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A 62-year-old life convict in Bihar married a 46-year-old Delhi-based woman at a temple near Patna in the wee hours of Wednesday to seek a Lok Sabha ticket for his newly-wed wife from a political party.

Ashok Mahto, a key conspirator of infamous Nawada jailbreak of 2002 on which Neeraj Pandey made a crime thriller web series 'Khakee D Bihar Chapter' based on the novel by a Bihar cadre IPS officer Amit Lodha, married Kumari Anita at the famous Jagdamba temple near Bakhtiyarpur in Patna in 'kharmas' (inauspicious month).

After that, the couple visited RJD chief Lalu Prasad and his former chief minister wife Rabri Devi's residence and sought their blessings. Anita will likely be pitted against JD(U), former president and party MP from Munger Rajiv Ranjan Singh, alias Lalan Singh. A law graduate from Delhi University, she worked with a private company.

RJD spokesperson Chitranjan Gagan said that she was associated with RJD when she was working in New Delhi. "Our party will give preference to women in the ticket distribution by considering the winnability factor. She (Anita) may get advantage of it," he added.

Mahto was released from jail on December 10, 2023, after languishing for 17 years in 2001. He had met Lalu after coming out of the prison.

Sources close to Mahto said though Mahto had expressed his ambition to contest the election, he could not do so as he was a convict serving a sentence.

As he had lost his first wife while in jail, Mahto decided to get married for the second time and thus chose Anita.

A native of Konanpur village in Nawada district, Mahto gained notoriety in 1990 when he engaged in a caste war with Akhilesh Singh of Nawada. Dozens of people from both sides were killed in the decade-old gang war. Mahto's archrival Akhilesh's wife, Aruna Devi, is a JD(U) MLA from Warisaliganj in Nawada district.

His name also figured in the killing of former Congress MP Rajo Singh in 2005.

Centre, Mann govt spar over Moosewala mom's IVF baby

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

CONTROVERSY erupted over the second baby born to parents of slain Punjabi singer Sidhu Moosewala through in vitro fertilisation (IVF). The Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare has sought details from the Punjab government questioning the age limit for conceiving the baby through IVF after parents of the late singer had their second baby through this technique.

Balkaur Singh, father of Moosewala, alleged accused Punjab Government and Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann for harassing him to supply documents and prove that this child is legit. Meanwhile Punjab Government said that central government is playing petty tricks and that it is not harassing the family.

Health and Family Welfare minister SK Rajan in a letter said, "Under the Section 21(g) the age limit prescribed for a woman going under ART services is between 21-50 years. Therefore, you are requested to look into the matter."

Father posts video

Balkaur Singh, father of the late singer in a video on social media, said that administration is repeatedly harassing him and asking him to present the legal documents of the child.

Mamata minister's brother raided for tax evasion linked to real estate firms

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

IN a massive crackdown on Wednesday, Income Tax (I-T) officials conducted raids at five places across Kolkata, which include the residence of TMC minister Arup Biswas's brother Swarup Biswas in south Kolkata's New Alipore in connection with suspicious financial transaction of two real estate companies.

The taxmen also searched the New Alipore borough office of the Kolkata Municipal Corporation (KMC) from where Swarup's wife Juin Biswas was elected as a councillor.

Besides, the central agency raided a businessman's house in Parnashree in Behala in connection with tax evasion.

Sources in the I-T department said the raid was a fall out of the agency's surveillance on the two real estate companies for the past two months. "While pursuing the footprints of the real estate companies' financial transactions, we suspected Biswas's link with the source of the fund," said an IT official.

The raids at the places of the TMC's minister's brother was said to be significant ahead of the upcoming general elections as the Election Commission of India (ECI) announced to rope in federal agencies like I-T and Enforcement Directorate (ED) in the electoral process to trace suspicious financial activities

> The BJP is deliberately trying to defame our party without my reason. The people of Bengal understand this trick. The BJP will get a befitting reply in this election
>
> A TMC leader

The TMC described the I-T raid as BJP's election strategy by using central agencies. "The BJP is deliberately trying to defame our party without my reason. The people of Bengal understand this trick. The BJP will get a befitting reply in this election," said TMC leader.

In recent crackdowns by the ED and the CBI against corruption by TMC functionaries in diverse sectors, several heavyweights of the Bengal's ruling party, including former education minister Partha Chatterjee were arrested.

In a statement, the police said, "Information was received from sister agencies that two top-rung leaders of ISIS in India who were camping in a neighbouring country would cross over to India at the Dhubri Sector to carry out sabotage activities."

Based on the input, a special task force team, led by IG Parthasarathi Mahanta, was deputed to locate and apprehend the accused who were wanted by the National Investigation Agency (NIA).

IRISH PM LEO VARADKAR ANNOUNCES SHOCK RESIGNATION

Move comes 10 weeks before Ireland is to hold European parliament & local polls

DUBLIN

LEO Varadkar on Wednesday announced that he was stepping down as Ireland's prime minister and leader of the Fine Gael party in the governing coalition, citing "personal and political" reasons. Pundits called the surprise move, just 10 weeks before Ireland holds European parliament and local elections, a "political earthquake".

Deputy Prime Minister Micheal Martin, leader of the Fianna Fail coalition partner, said Varadkar's announcement was "unexpected" but added that he expected the government to run its full term.

An emotional Varadkar, who is in his second stint as prime minister and at 45 remains one of Ireland's youngest leaders, said he felt he was no longer the "best person" to lead the country. "Politicians are human beings. We have our limitations," he said in a statement on the steps of Government Buildings in Dublin, surrounded by his Fine Gael cabinet colleagues.

Varadkar insisted that he believed the government could be re-elected. But he added: "I believe a new taoiseach (prime minister) will be better placed than me to achieve that -- to renew and strengthen the top team, to refocus our message and policies, and to drive implementation. After seven years in office, I am no longer the best person for that job," he said.

I am resigning the presidency and leadership of Fine Gael and will resign as Taoiseach as soon as my successor is able to take up that office
Leo Varadkar

"I am resigning the presidency and leadership of Fine Gael and will resign as Taoiseach as soon as my successor is able to take up that office. My reasons for stepping down now are personal and political, but mainly political," he said.

Earlier this month, Varadkar was widely blamed for a twin defeat, including the biggest-ever referendum loss by a government, on proposals to reform references to women, the family and care in the Irish constitution.

Varadkar said his centre-right Fine Gael party would have a leadership contest, and that he would remain as premier until the new leader is elected, after parliament returns from recess next month.

Varadkar first became prime minister in June 2017. He was the youngest person to ever hold the office, Ireland's first openly gay prime minister, and the first to be from an ethnic minority background.

He stepped down as part of a deal with opposition parties after his party's poor performance in the 2020 general election, but took over for a second time in 2022 as part of the same agreement. Varadkar, a pugnacious and sometimes controversial speaker in parliament, was in charge of Ireland's response to the Covid pandemic and during Brexit negotiations, where he helped prevent a hard border with UK-run Northern Ireland.

Last month, he joined Britain's Indian-origin Prime Minister to unveil a historic power-sharing pact when Varadkar and Rishi Sunak agreed that a 'stable, effective and successful' Northern Ireland. part of the UK. and sharing a border with Ireland 'benefitted the UK-Irish relationship immensely..

Sunak's spokesman said of Varadkar: "We wish him well on his next steps and we'll continue to work closely with him as a successor is sought."

Varadkar's potential successors include cabinet ministers Simon Harris (education), Simon Coveney (trade), and Helen McEntee (justice).. AFP

PM MEETS ALBINO BUFFALO IN 'SOFT POWER' PUSH

Thailand Prime Minister Srettha Thavisin took the bull by the horns Wednesday as he welcomed an unusual visitor to his offices -- an enormous white buffalo that recently sold for $500,000. The bulky bovine, named Ko Muang Phet, earned a trip to Government House to meet Srettha. Standing six-feet-tall, the four-year-old albino weighs 1.4 tonnes -- almost three times more than the average buffalo. In a post on X, Srettha said the Thai Buffalo Breeding Association had asked the government to promote the animals as a tool of "soft power".

MAN JAILED FOR FACEBOOK POST AGAINST PM LEE

Kong Chee Kian, 46, was sentenced to four months' jail on Wednesday for one count of inciting violence electronically. On Jul 8, 2022, Kong read an article about a man being taken into custody after Shinzo Abe was shot. He left a comment on the post, saying: "Pls someone do the same to our PM." The police received a report regarding the post, following which Kong was arrested. The court heard that Kong did not like the government and the PM. He had difficulty finding permanent employment due to health issues and was "looking for someone to blame", so he chose to blame the government, the prosecution said.

Contentious Texas immigration law back on hold

WASHINGTON

A TEXAS law that would allow state police to arrest and deport migrants who cross illegally into the United States from Mexico was again placed on hold late Tuesday, the latest in an ongoing legal back-and-forth over its fate.

The administration of Democratic President Joe Biden has strongly opposed the law, known as Senate Bill 4, arguing that the federal government has authority over immigration matters, not individual states. "SB 4 will not only make communities in Texas less safe, it will also burden law enforcement, and sow chaos and confusion at our southern border," White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre said in a statement. "SB 4 is just another example of Republican officials politicising the border while blocking real solutions."

A federal judge last month temporarily blocked the law passed by the Republican majority in the Texas state legislature saying it "conflicts with key provisions of federal immigration law." But a conservative-dominated appeals court said SB 4 could go into force unless the Supreme Court ruled otherwise.

The nation's highest court, issued a temporary stay on SB 4 earlier this month but lifted it Tuesday, allowing it to take effect while legal challenges play out in lower courts. But by Tuesday evening, the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals put the law back on hold. AFP

Blinken in Jeddah for Gaza truce, aid talks

JEDDAH

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken landed in Saudi Arabia on Wednesday to discuss efforts to secure a ceasefire in Gaza and ramp up aid deliveries to the Palestinian territory.

The US top diplomat touched down in Jeddah where he was to meet Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman, said an AFP journalist on board, the first stop on Blinken's sixth Middle East tour since the Israel-Hamas war started on October 7.

Top envoy to visit Israel on Friday

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken will visit Israel on Friday, a State Department spokesperson said. Blinken will make the previously unscheduled visit to discuss "the ongoing negotiations to secure the release of all hostages" and efforts to boost aid deliveries to Gaza.

Blinken on Thursday is due to travel on to Egypt, which neighbours Gaza and whose envoys have been involved in previous mediation efforts. In Jeddah and Cairo, Blinken will discuss efforts to reach an "immediate ceasefire agreement that secures the release of all remaining hostages", State Department spokesperson Matthew Miller said on Tuesday.

Blinken will also discuss "post-conflict planning for Gaza", with Saudi and Egyptian officials, Miller said.

He will discuss "a political path for the Palestinian people with security assurances with Israel, and an architecture for lasting peace and security in the region", the spokesperson added. Nearly six months into the war, Israel's key backer the United States has repeatedly called on its ally to allow more humanitarian aid into besieged Gaza.

On Tuesday, Blinken said everyone in Gaza was now suffering "severe levels of acute food insecurity". "That's the first time an entire population has been so classified," he said during a visit to the Philippines.

Another major area of concern for the US, the United Nations and aid groups has been the fate of Rafah in the far south of the Gaza Strip. Since the war erupted, the tiny area's population has surged to around 1.5 million with the arrival of hundreds of thousands displaced from elsewhere in the territory.

US President Joe Biden has put pressure on Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to pull back from a threatened full-scale ground operation. The United States is also striving to broker an eventual normalisation agreement between Saudi Arabia and Israel, which would entail American security guarantees for the kingdom, according to its entourage. AFP

GWADAR PORT IN PAKISTAN ATTACKED, 7 MILITANTS KILLED

QUETTA

SECURITY forces killed at least seven militants on Wednesday as they tried to storm the offices of a Pakistan port considered a cornerstone of China's investment in the nation, officials said.

Pakistan has for decades battled a simmering insurgency in southwestern Balochistan province, where separatists hostile to Islamabad have often targeted foreign investment projects.Local official Saeed Ahmed Umrani said seven militants had been killed in an attempt to "infiltrate" the compound of Balochistan's Gwadar Port Authority.

Gwadar Port, which sits on the Arabian Sea, is managed by a Chinese firm and considered the crown jewel of Beijing's investment in Pakistan under its gargantuan Belt and Road infrastructure project.

An army source who asked to remain anonymous also said seven militants had been killed, alongside four soldiers defending law-enforcement posts inside the compound. "The terrorists attacked with grenades, rocket launchers and Kalashnikovs," he said. "The area is cleared now."

Balochistan chief minister Sarfraz Bugti posted on X that eight militants had been killed. The attack was claimed by separatist group the Baloch Liberation Army (BLA) in an email statement, and spokesman Jeeyand Baloch said military intelligence offices had been targeted. "The operation was launched at 3.30pm (1030 GMT) and is still underway", he said. AFP

JSW-MG Motor eyes 33% EV mkt share by 2030

Sajjan Jindal says he wants to recreate the 'Maruti moment' of early 1980s in electric passenger vehicle industry

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

BILLIONAIRE Sajjan Jindal wants to disrupt India's electric passenger vehicle (PV) industry by recreating the "Maruti moment" of the early 1980s.

His steel-to-port conglomerate JSW Group and China's SAIC Motor on Wednesday finalised joint venture (JV) 'JSW MG Motor India Pvt Ltd'. MG Motor is a legacy British brand owned by Shanghai-headquartered SAIC Motor.

As per the contours of the JV, the two parties will invest ₹5,000 crore to triple manufacturing capacity in the coming years, launch a new vehicle every 3-6 months and open premium retail outlet centres to take on over a dozen incumbent players, who have aggressive EV plans. The JV entity has set an initial target of selling 10 lakh EVs in India by 2030 to corner a third of the market.

"My dream with MG joint venture is to create a 'Maruti moment'. In 1984, when Maruti came to India, it changed the auto industry. We aim to do the same with MG," said Jindal, Chairman of JSW Group, at an event in Mumbai. He said it was his childhood dream to make cars and work for the same had started way back in 2015-16 but got delayed due to various reasons.

Parth Jindal, JSW Group Scion and Member of Steering Committee, JSW MG Motor India JV, explained JSW would be taking 35% of the JV entity while Indian financial institutions would be taking 8%. The dealers are buying 3% of the JV and 5% is kept for the employees. SIAC Motor will hold the remaining 49% stake. At a later stage, there is a possibility that SAIC may dilute its stake via initial public offering (IPO) or even the Jindals may increase their holding. The chairman of the JV will be with the JSW Group with the board would be managed by JSW and SAIC members.

Parth sees a big opportunity in the space and expects domestic PV industry to become as big as of China. "Indian economy at $4 trillion is where China was in 2005 and the US was in 1985... Last year China sold 25 million PVs and of this 8 million or 32% were new energy vehicle products. In contrast, India sold less than 2% or 80,000 EVs last year 2023," said Parth. He said over the next 10 years, India will be a 10 million PV market.

The JV will launch two new products in the festive season of which one will be a "new energy vehicle" while the other is likely to be powered by gasoline. The JV is also betting big on plug-in hybrid vehicles (PHEVs) and they aim to launch one in 2025.

"We will offer a range of vehicles from ICE to NEVs, staying focused on building a robust and sustainable EV ecosystem in India. We are firmly committed to expanding our manufacturing footprint with extensive localisation by leveraging JSW Group's extensive knowledge and expertise in manufacturing at scale," said Rajeev Chaba, CEO Emeritus of MG Motor India.

After speculations, SAIC Motor and JSW Group on November 30 announced forming a joint venture. This development was seen as a much-needed step to aid the growth of MG Motor as it was struggling to raise funds for its future endeavours after India started scrutinising Chinese investments in the country.

Following this announcement, JSW Group in February signed a ₹40,000 crore MoU with the Odisha government to set up an Integrated EV and battery manufacturing project in the state. Parth said the investment in Odisha is made by JSW Group on a standalone basis. Owing to JSW prowess in the Steel business and the group's effort to built an entire EV ecosystem in Odisha, the JV would have the headroom to price their EVs aggressively. Without revealing prices of their future products or a specific timeline, Parth Jindal said that they would like to bring down prices of new energy vehicles at the level of ICE power vehicles.

Zomato drops colour-coded veg fleet after backlash

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

FOOD delivery platform Zomato has decided against green coloured brand t-shirts for its pure vegetarian fleets after facing severe backlash, with large sections of public calling it discriminatory practise and raised concerns about safety of delivery workers.

The company said it will continue to provide 'Pure Veg Fleet' and 'Pure Veg mode', which carries only vegetarian food items from strict vegetarian restaurants. However it won't use green coloured t-shirts for Vegetarian fleets.

The company decided to remove the on-ground segregation of this fleet using the colour green, chief executive Deepinder Goyal said in a post on X (formerly Twitter). All our riders — both our regular fleet, and our fleet for vegetarians, will wear the colour red, he said.

Though the fleet meant for vegetarian orders will not be identifiable on the ground it could be identified by users on the app.

"This will ensure that our red uniform delivery partners are not incorrectly associated with non-veg food, and blocked by any RWAs or societies during any special days... our riders' physical safety is of paramount importance to us. We now realise that even some of our customers could get into trouble with their landlords, and that would not be a nice thing if that happened because of us," he said.

The company's decision created a backlash with a lot of replies to Goyal's post complaining about residents associations' on-going discrimination against delivery persons. Some users said this would worsen the situation, especially during puja days. "Open invitation to vigilantes and RWA brass to target non-veg delivery boys ferrying food in tellate red delivery boxes. Who knows, they may soon start investigating the contents also. Thanks buddy," a X users said.

Other users said keeping a separate bag for vegetarian orders itself would be enough to address the concerns of vegetarians. There are also questions about profitability and unit economics of the vegetarian fleet, amid widespread complaints about huge food deliveries charges and delayed deliveries.

No coercive action against IL&FS: NCLAT

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) has directed 11 public sector banks not to take coercive action against IL&FS and its group companies till its next hearing on May 14.

A two-member NCLAT bench headed by Chairperson Justice Ashok Bhushan issued notices to the banks, along with the RBI, directing them to file a reply. "In view of the order dated October 15, 2018, the Respondents (banks) shall not proceed to take any coercive action against the Applicant (IL&FS and group companies) till the next date," said the NCLAT.

On October 15, 2018, the NCLAT stayed all proceedings against IL&FS and other group companies till its further order. It had also restrained creditors of IL&FS from filing suits, in the case of non-repayment of loans. The NCLAT direction came on Tuesday over an urgent plea moved by the newly appointed board of debt-ridden IL&FS, seeking direction to the banks restraining them from initiating or pursuing any proceedings for declaration as willful defaulter against its group companies and their officials. The appellate tribunal has directed to list the IL&FS application on May 14, 2024, for the next hearing.

On October 1, 2018, the NCLAT superseded the existing board of IL&FS on the recommendation of the centre after the mega-crisis in IL&FS, which shook the finance industry.

PM praises India's thriving start-up ecosystem

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday lauded India's thriving startup ecosystem, highlighting its 1.25 lakh startups engaging 12 lakh youth. Emphasising the importance of prompt patent filing, he commended the GeM portal for disbursing over ₹20,000 crore to businesses.

He said UPI becoming a pillar of support for the fin-tech start-ups will lead the development of innovative products and services for the expansion of digital services in the country. He recalled the huge queues of industry and world leaders at a booth that was set up in Bharat Mandapam during the G20 Summit explaining the working of UPI and offering a trial run," the Government release said.

The PM while inaugurating the Start-up Mahakumbh at Bharat Mandapam, New Delhi, said this has strengthened financial inclusion and reduced the rural and urban divide, while also democratising technology. He expressed delight that more than 45 percent of start-ups in the country are women-led, be it education, agriculture or health.

The Prime Minister underscored the significance of fostering an innovative culture for the benefit of humanity, beyond just "Viksit Bharat." He highlighted India's efforts through Startup-20 to offer a global platform for startups, recognizing them as key drivers of growth. Additionally, he touched upon India's leading position in the field of artificial intelligence, emphasising the nation's strengths in this crucial domain.

PM Modi said that the startup revolution is being led by small cities and that too in a wide range of sectors including agriculture, textiles, medicine, transport, space, yoga and ayurveda. He also mentioned that Indian startups are working in more than 50 areas in the space sector, including the launch of the space shuttle.

Snapchat bullish on India; sees huge scope for growth

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

INSTANT messaging app Snapchat is bullish on opportunity in India and sees huge growth in the coming years. With a 200 million user base (mostly between 16-24 years) in India, Snapchat, developed by Snap Inc, is also expanding its team and wants to deepen its connection with Young India.

"This is the most exciting time to be in India than any other market. There is 4x headroom for us to grow here in the next few years," Pulkit Trivedi, MD, India, Snap Inc, told TNIE. On Wednesday, Snap hosted its debut event in Bengaluru, and spoke about brands that are choosing Snapchat to connect with a diverse audience.

"We don't open to a text or content feed, it opens to a camera, it is a visual form of expression. We are an app not just used by urban population, but across the country," said Trivedi. The app is investing in creator ecosystem and he said creators are building multilingual content for this young India.

Talking about the digital advertising market, which is at around $10 billion, Trivedi said all indicators suggest it will grow to $20-25 billion by 2030. Need subsidised mobile devices for faster 5G adoption, says Nokia

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THERE is a need for subsidising 5G mobile devices to lead faster adoption of the 5G network in India, said a Nokia senior executive.

According to Amit Marwah, head of marketing and corporate affairs (CMO) for Nokia India, consumer upgrades to 5G devices are also a factor.

"We have around 150 million 5G capable devices in India, of which, let's say 130 million or 135 million are already using the 5G network. That's very good. However, the reason why 150 million users can't become 300 million is the consumer decision to buy a new device. Unless devices are subsidized, it won't happen automatically here. Consumers decide when they want to buy a 5G phone. If they're happy with the 4G network and phones, they might take longer to upgrade. Typically, people change their devices every two to three years," said Marwah.

India officially launched 5G services in October 2022, and since then two telecom companies Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel have been rapidly rolling out 5G networks, making it one of the fastest 5G rollouts globally.

The Finnish company, in its annual MBiT Report for 2024 released on Wednesday, mentioned that India had 131 million 5G users by December 2023, while 4G users still dominate the market at 724 million. The report also expects the 5G user base to reach 575 million by 2026. The report suggests that around 17% of active 4G devices (approximately 134 million) are already 5G capable. This means there's a significant existing user base that could potentially switch to 5G with the right incentives. There are still a substantial 796 million users on 4G devices.

The report also mentioned that 5G users in India are using approximately 3.6 times as much mobile data traffic compared to 4G since its launch in October 2022. The users spend their data mostly on watching videos and uploading content.

220,000 free condoms for athletes during Paris Olympics

Organisers of the Paris Olympics are to distribute 220,000 condoms to athletes who want to get romantic during this year's Games. Although they might be focussed on sport, competitors will be free to indulge in sex if they wish — unlike during the last Covid-hit Olympics in Tokyo when they were urged to "avoid unnecessary forms of physical contact".

Arrest of Naxalites forces WFI to move Fed Cup out of Chhattisgarh

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

ARREST of Naxalites and their supporters from Jashpur district in Chhattisgarh has forced the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) to change the venue of the Federation Cup. The WFI was also supposed to conduct the all-important election of the Athletes' Commission during the tournament which is scheduled on April 24 and 25. It is learnt that the event has now been moved to Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh.

The tournament, first to be organised by the WFI after the dissolution of the ad-hoc committee by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) on Monday, is not only expected to see participation from grapplers from all state units but also attendance of top wrestlers including Olympians who are interested in contesting for a place in the Athletes' Commission.

"The district magistrate of Jashpur district urged the WFI to move out the event in the wake of the recent arrest," a source in the know of things told this daily. Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh police had carried out a joint operation on March 13 and arrested six accused, including Maoist cadres.

It was reported that the accused were residing in a poultry farm disguising themselves as labourers. Those arrested included Tunesh Lakra alias Ravi and Ram Lakra, both members of the banned outfit — Jharkhand Jan Mukti Parishad (JJMP — a CPI (Maoist) splinter group). The arrest was made in Karma village under the Narayanpura police station limits of Jashpur. The news reports also claimed that a total of 31 cases related to loot, dacoity, and abduction are pending against the accused in Balrampur district of Chhattisgarh and other adjoining areas of Jharkhand.

"The federation wanted to organise the event in the tribal-dominated area in its bid to promote wrestling in such places but unfortunately it has to change the decision. Maybe in future when everything is all right, other tournaments could be held in Chhattisgarh," added the source.

Besides, the Lok Sabha polls, which will be held in three phases on April 19, 26 and May 7, were also cited as one of the reasons. "The tournament is scheduled for April 24 and 25 while the second-phase polling is on April 26. So it is also a reason but the primary concern is the arrest of the Naxalites," said the source.

Women's camp to be moved?

Meanwhile, the WFI is also gearing to organise national camps for the top four wrestlers (in each weight category) of the selection trials held recently to pick up the national teams for Asian Championships and Asian Olympic Qualifier. The ad-hoc committee, which was managing the day-to-day affairs of the WFI, had organised camps for men and women wrestlers in Sonepat and Patiala respectively. However, the WFI may change the camp venue for women wrestlers. It is learnt that the federation has suggested Gandhinagar as the first option. "In the past as well, Gandhinagar was suggested as an option. This time also the Sports Authority of India has been urged to hold the women's camp in Gandhinagar. Bhopal and Patiala are other options. The men's camp will be in Sonepat. The camp will start on March 27 if the suggestion is accepted," a WFI source told this daily.

Fit Shreyas' return a big boost for KKR: Pandit

Kolkata chief coach happy with team balance ahead of new season

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

KOLKATA Knight Riders, in their quest for the third IPL crown, having been making the right moves. First, they brought back their two-time winning captain Gautam Gambhir as mentor and later, picked the world best left-arm fast bowler Mitchell Starc to bolster their attack.

KKR chief coach Chandrakant Pandit, too, insists that things are going smoothly and assures that his team is on track to perform to its potential in this edition of the Indian Premier League. "The preparation is going on nicely. All the boys are focussed and eager to perform. They are aware of their roles and are keen to deliver," Pandit told this daily.

While there have been some reports that Shreyas Iyer has had some recurring back problems, Pandit said that the captain is "absolutely fine." "He already played a practice game as well and he's been practicing, so he's absolutely fine. His (Iyer) coming back into the team is a big boost for us as he is a class batter and an able captain," revealed Pandit.

Gambhir has already joined the team and been interacting with Pandit and Iyer, passing on his inputs as a mentor. "Obviously, it's a great inclusion (Gambhir as mentor) and he is a very experienced man who has been with the KKR. He not only has experience of being around in the circuit but has also won the two titles for KKR. It's a big boost for everyone," opined the former India wicketkeeper.

The return of Iyer, who missed out on the last season due to injury, and with the likes of Manish Pandey, Venkatesh Iyer, Nitish Rana, Rinku Singh, Andre Russell, Sherfane Rutherford, Phil Salt and Rahmanullah Gurbaz KKR has a solid line-up of batters. Starc leads the attack, with Dushmantha Chameera, Chetan Sakariya, Harshit Rana, Sunil Narine and Varun Chakravarthy, Mujib-Ur-Rahman, left-arm spinner Anukul Roy and Suyash Sharma for support. "The team composition is very good, we have a very balanced side. The team combination will be decided on the day of the game keeping in mind the surface we are going to play and against whom," said Pandit. "As you mentioned we have some exciting batters and some quality spinners in Sunil Narine and Varun Chakravarthy. Both of them are different and are quality spinners. Both have the ability to bowl anywhere. Plus our fast bowling attack is also second to none with Starc leading the attack," added the 62-year old.

KKR chief coach Chandrakant Pandit

Russell on a given day can be a gamechanger with his aggressive batting. He, along with Rinku, can be a good finisher for KKR. "Russell is in good form. He's been batting well. If you see his past performance this season, he's been playing in particular when he played for West Indies. He's well experienced and has played other leagues too," Pandit insisted.

Pandit's mantra for success is to focus totally on one game at a time and then take it from there to build momentum. "Yes, of course we'll have to focus on one match at a time rather than just thinking over the entire season. Of course, it is a long journey and we'll have to prepare in such a way that we win a game and then carry forward the momentum. So it is a continuous process where one tries to constantly improve in order to achieve the goal," explained Pandit.

Pandit has been one of the most successful coaches in domestic cricket having helped several teams win the Ranji Trophy. However, IPL is a different ball game. "It's more than challenging. In the IPL you deal with experienced and matured players. They have enough experience under their belt. I don't try to change much (their game), I try to guide them and give them direction in order to achieve the target," he said.

Several team's support staff are under pressure from their team owners. KKR co-owner is none other than Shahrukh Khan. In fact, it has been reported the superstar took a keen interest in bringing back Gambhir. "Absolutely no pressure from any of the owners. Shahrukh Khan just comes and watches the games, speaks with the boys and encourages them. Eversince I joined the team there has never been any kind of pressure from Shahrukh. In fact, he is always a great motivator and not only for me, but the entire team," signed off Pandit.

IPL ROUND-UP

GT name Warrier as Shami's replacement

Gujarat Titans have roped in Kerala medium-pacer Sandeep Warrier as a replacement for injured senior Indian seamer Mohammed Shami, the Indian Premier League said on Wednesday. Meanwhile, Mumbai Indians named uncapped South African medium-pacer Kwena Maphaka as injured Sri Lankan pacer Dilshan Madushanka's replacement. The 23-year-old Lankan pacer had suffered a hamstring injury.

KNOW YOUR TEAMS

With the 2024 Indian Premier League beginning on Friday, a look at some of the teams and how they shape up for the this year's tournament...

GUJARAT TITANS

Key players: David Miller, Shubman Gill, Rashid Khan, Kane Williamson

2023 FINISH: RUNNERS-UP

Auction performance: They eschewed the prospect of 'buying' a captain at the auction as they plumped for an internal promotion. They decided to replace the outgoing Hardik Pandya with the immensely talented Azmatullah Omarzai while also getting onboard Spencer Johnson. Shahrukh Khan was also signed to bring some significant lower order muscle.

Strengths: It's a very settled squad even if there's a new captain. Ashish Nehra has instilled a sense of camaraderie that is hard to argue against. All the players are very familiar with their roles. With Miller, Khan, Shahrukh and Rahul Tewatia, they may well face a problem of plenty when it comes to finishers.

Points to ponder: How do they replace Mohammed Shami, an all phase bowler, and Hardik, two of their best performers? Also, where's the Indian spinner? With Tewatia not bowling any more, could Sai Kishore be that player?

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE

- Mar 24 vs MI, Ahmedabad
- Mar 26 vs CSK, Chennai
- Mar 31 vs SRH, Ahmedabad
- Apr 4 vs PBKS, Ahmedabad

DELHI CAPITALS

Key players: Mitchell Marsh, David Warner, Kuldeep Yadav, Rishabh Pant

2023 FINISH: 9TH

Auction performance: Made a big play for Harry Brook who will play no part in this year's edition. The uncapped Kumar Kushagra is an exciting addition to the squad. Still a teen, the wicket-keeper may even begin the season as the man with the gloves. Jhye Richardson's express pace can also come in handy if Anrich Nortje isn't ready.

Strengths: Indian spinners are a lock thanks to the likes of Kuldeep Yadav and Axar Patel. Apart from the eight overs, the latter will also double up as a difference point in the middle-overs apart from attacking right-arm wrist-spin through the middle-overs. At the top, Warner, Prithvi Shaw and Mitchell Marsh will look to take advantage of the field restrictions.

Points to ponder: Will Pant be able to make a seamless return as captain? Will Anrich Nortje, who has been out of competitive cricket for a long time, be hitting the ground running? Richardson is perfectly capable but the domestic pace bowling department is a little meh. Sure, Ishant Sharma, Khaleel Ahmed and Mukesh Kumar are experienced operators but they do not have the pace to trouble top-order batters.

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE

- Mar 23 vs PBKS, Mullanpur
- Mar 28 vs RR, Jaipur
- Mar 31 vs CSK, Vizag
- Apr 3 vs KKR, Vizag
- Apr 7 vs MI, Mumbai

RAJASTHAN ROYALS

Key players: Jos Buttler, Yashasvi Jaiswal, R Ashwin, Shimron Hetmyer

2023 FINISH: 5TH

Auction performances: Rovman Powell could prove to be a smart buy as they struggled to finish innings strongly. Avesh Khan is a speedy bowler and can trouble the best in the business while Nandre Burger could be able understudy to Trent Boult.

Strengths: Their top-order is a thing of beauty with Buttler, Jaiswal, Samson, Hetmyer, Powell and Jurel all capable of quickfire knocks. You throw in eight overs of high quality Indian spin (Ashwin and Yuzvendra Chahal) plus the almost guaranteed new-ball wicket-taking ability of Trent Boult and this is a serious team.

Points to ponder: Riyan Parag bats one position too high but question marks remain over a propensity to concede too many in the death overs. Sanju Samson remains a polarising figure in Indian cricket but the nay-sayers will increase if he goes another season without showing the necessary captaincy chops. Also, will be he be consistent enough to put himself in the reckoning for a World Cup place?

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE

- Mar 24 LSG, Jaipur
- Mar 28 DC, Jaipur
- Apr 1 MI, Mumbai
- Apr 6 RCB, Jaipur

PUNJAB KINGS

Key players: Liam Livingstone, Jitesh Sharma, Kagiso Rabada, Arshdeep Singh

2023 FINISH: 8TH

Auction performance: Harshal Patel was the headline signing but the acquisition of Rilee Rossouw could be smart, if they can find a combination that sees him play. Chris Woakes could be a back-up for a whole host of players including Livingstone and Sam Curran.

Strengths: The bowling is pretty sorted not just in terms of who will bowl but in what phase of the innings. Rabada and Arshdeeep will bowl early doors while Harshal will close out. Rahul Chahar and Livingstone's spin will be in play in the middle overs while Curran can bowl pretty much through the back-end. The explosive finishing kick of Livingstone and Jitesh Sharma will be needed.

Points to ponder: Their batting has been hit and miss and it may continue to be that. Jonny Bairstow will need to make a lot of runs in the front as the top-order is perhaps a touch too conservative otherwise.

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE

- Mar 23 vs DC, Mullanpur
- Mar 25 vs RCB, Bengaluru
- Mar 30 LSG, Lucknow
- Apr 4 GT, Ahmedabad

Overstated costs led to Aus' CWG withdrawal

AGENCIES @Melbourne

AN inquiry into the Australian state of Victoria's decision to cancel its planned hosting of the 2026 Commonwealth Games said it cost the state 589 million Australian dollars ($385 million) and the price estimate that resulted in it being shelved was 'overstated and not transparent.' Victoria's Auditor-General's Office on Wednesday said agencies failed to work together to give 'frank, full and timely advice' to the government before it decided to host the games. "The total cost of the games to Victorians is over $589 million," the office said in a report.

In 2022, the Labor government led by then-Premier Daniel Andrews agreed to host the 2026 Games in regional cities in Victoria at an expected cost of about $1.7 billion. But it pulled out in July 2023 after saying the figure had blown out to $4.5 bn, and instead had to compensate the Commonwealth Games Federation for breaking the contract.

Boxing still 'on hold' for 2028 Olympics: IOC

AGENCIES @Lausanne

THE International Olympic Committee (IOC) has reiterated its threat to leave boxing out of the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics if national federations continue to align themselves with the suspended International Boxing Association (IBA), casting fresh doubts on the crisis-hit sport's future at the quadrennial showpiece.

Speaking at a press conference here on Tuesday following the IOC Executive Board meeting, IOC Sports Director Kit McConnell said boxing is still "on hold" for the 2028 Olympics.

"Following the decision by the IOC Session last year, the inclusion of boxing in the LA28 Olympic programme is on hold and not confirmed," McConnell said. "If there is no boxing body supported and driven by the National Federations, we will not be in a position to include boxing in the Olympic programme," he added.

WC Qualifier: India eye good show vs Afghanistan

AGENCIES @Abha (Saudi Arabia)

BOLSTERED by the return of Jeakson Singh and Anwar Ali, the Indian football team will renew its quest for a maiden entry into the third round of FIFA World Cup Qualifiers when it faces a weakened Afghanistan here on Friday.

With mid-field general Jeakson and centre-back Anwar back in the line-up after long injury layoffs, because of which India suffered in recent past, the Blue Tigers will fancy their chances against the lower-ranked opponents in the second-round preliminary joint qualification match. With three points and one win from two matches, India currently occupy the third place in the Group A pecking order.

Reigning Asian champions Qatar lead the standings with six points from two wins, while Kuwait are second with one win. Having lost both their games so far, Afghanistan are placed last.

India's away win against Kuwait has put Igor Stimac's team in a strong position to progress further in the qualification cycle, something the 117-ranked side has never achieved.

Victories in their upcoming outings (away and home) against the 158-ranked Afghanistan will help India acquire nine points and with Qatar expected to win their next two matches against Kuwait, the Blue Tigers have a real chance of jumping to second place in the standings.

Sindhu, Sen and Srikanth enter Rd 2

AGENCIES @Basel

FORMER champion Kidambi Srikanth and in-form Lakshya Sen produced impressive performances to progress to the men's singles second round of the Swiss Open super 300 badminton tournament here on Wednesday. Later, PV Sindhu also won her opening-round match to advance.

INDULGING IN THE AMERICAN DREAM!

SUBHADRIKA SEN

SAVING your money for a trip on your own or with friends and family to the USA? Well, here's a list of five holiday itineraries that include everything from watching the night sky, spending your time relaxing while you indulge in retail and culinary therapy, hiking in nature's natural wonderland or revitalising yourself by experiencing art across different states — that will surely leave you with great memories.

TNIE caught up with state tourism and travel departments from the United States of America at the Brand USA conference held in Goa recently. Here are the top five destinations for tourists visiting the country, this year...

STARRY SKIES

If you are keen on night trekking and astrophotography, then visit Utah. With an attractive enchanting sky, spread above these state parks, national parks and open landscapes, stargazing magic in Utah comes alive when the sun goes down. Explore the Milky Way and over 15,000 stars in the world's first Dark Sky Park or at the Natural Bridges National Monument. This being an all-seasons affair makes it more exciting. Opt for professional tours like Dark Ranger Telescope Tours or Sleeping Rainbow Adventures that would help you easily navigate through these experiences. Looking for where to stay, check out luxury properties like Under Canvas Zion, Moab or Bryce Canyon, all in the vicinity.

ARTISTIC ADVENTURE

Art is everywhere, from the open streets of the city to the canvassed walls of the museum — this is how Philadelphia can be described. With a thriving cultural and diverse art front, the city boasts several museums, including the Philadelphia Museum of Art, The Barnes Foundation, The Rodin Museum, The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and the newest on the block — Calder Gardens, dedicated to artist Alexander Calder. Alternatively, you may also book a tour with Mural Arts Philadelphia Tours and check out community-based public art spread across a wide expanse of neighbourhoods on foot, trolley, train or segway.

GLAMOROUS GLAMPING

Love the wild or the idea of chilling amidst nature's bounty? Then it's time to manifest it in California. With glamping emerging as the newest combination of outdoor relaxation and adventure, it's time to hop on to the trip! Check out the geological wonders at Yosemite National Park while staying at the Wildhaven Yosemite just on the outskirts, which offers, apart from the scenic views, fully furnished tents and cabins. Opt for their hiking trails or head out for a picnic. If you want to make the trip even more happening then rent a luxury campervan. You can park them wherever you deem fit and enjoy the night. Each campervan is fitted with ultra-modern amenities and sleeps two, three or four persons. And yes, keep a map handy.

FICTIONAL FANTASIES

Ever imagine yourself in Sheldon's Spot lazying around with your friends in Central Perk or having a feast at the Great Hall in Hogwarts? Well now you can do all of that at the Warner Brother's Studio Tour in Los Angeles. Yes, while the Hollywood signage still remains an awesome monument, getting to see the recreated sets and interactive production props at the studio has increasingly attracted more people through the years. Don't forget to get yourself some merch of your favourite shows.

RELAXING RENDEZVOUS

Enjoy a breezy vacation by the sea in Santa Monica. While sunbathing on the beach is a must-do, you can also explore staying in the chic, art-deco Georgian Hotel or The Pierside Hotel Santa Monica. Indulge yourself with All that Jazz and Sound Sessions in the former while the latter offers stunning views of a lit Colorado Esplanade and free beachside yoga with a pint of beer. Unmissable food trails via Burgette, Sweet Maple, Modern Bread & Bagel and Impasta take you on a culinary journey while fashion boutiques like Pieces Los Angeles, Cleo Centric, and El Husuba take care of pulchritudinous passions.

If he's not donning his white coat, Dr Santosh HR, an orthopaedist at Victoria Hospital is smashing it on the baddy court; the professional badminton player recently won gold at All-India Civil Services badminton tournament in Chandigarh

Shuttling roles

EXPRESS FEATURES

Dr Santosh HR lives by the philosophy that if life gives you a second chance, then grab it with both hands. That's exactly what he did. Santosh, a doctor by profession, moonlights as a professional badminton player. His passion for the racquet was so intense that he won gold at the All India Civil Services badminton tournament that was held in Chandigarh recently. "In this tournament where I represented Karnataka, I won the gold medal in men's doubles and silver in the mixed doubles category for those above 45," says Santosh.

The 47-year-old orthopedic surgeon at Victoria Hospital has been playing badminton since he was 11-years-old. "I have been playing for around 35 years. My father was playing badminton and I got inspired by him to pick up the racquet. I had represented the state around six times and I had won two all-India-level tournaments," he says, adding that he got his medical seat in a sports quota.

> Due to the age cut-off, I missed out on many tournaments. To my luck, different categories like above 35 and 40 years started which allowed me to get back to badminton
> Dr Santosh HR, orthopaedist

Though he admits that it was not easy for him to balance sports and MBBS. "Once I got into medicine, I wasn't able to continue my passion for sports. To focus on my studies, I left badminton for nearly 10 years. I don't regret it though because academia was quite competitive and needed my full attention. I did continue playing at the college and university level," says Santosh, who has been a student of badminton legend Prakash Padukone.

Maybe his studies were the first hurdle to, but it changed in different stages due to which he could not pursue badminton. "Then life got busy and I continued focusing on my profession. Then due to the age cut-off, I missed out on many tournaments. To my luck, different categories like above 35 and 40 years started which allowed me to get back to badminton; I resumed after 35," he adds.

Having been in touch with sports on a personal level helped him get back to it full-time when he did. "I had already played for around 10 to 15 years continuously. I already was a professional badminton player so it was not very difficult to get back on track," he says.

With a hectic professional life of being a doctor and saving lives, Santosh says badminton is what has helped him keep a mental and physical balance. "It is something that keeps me happy and is a huge stress-buster. I am at that age where I have to take care of my physical health too. It helps me stay fit," says Santosh, further adding, "Of course, work is hectic but it's just one hour in the morning I dedicate to badminton. So it's well-balanced."

FRAGMENTED REALITIES

Theatre personality TM Karthik with director Denver Anthony Nicholas will be staging the critically acclaimed play The Father for the first time in Bengaluru

POOJA DAS

It can be said that our lives are a sum total of all the memories we collect over time. But what if those memories start to fade and fragment? The critically-acclaimed play The Father adapted by director Denver Anthony Nicholas and lead actor TM Karthik known for his roles in films like Life of Pi and Guru attempts to answer that question. Coming to the city for the first time, the play is adapted from the original work of the French playwright Florian Zeller, whose English film adaptation won actor Anthony Hopkins an Oscar for the lead role. Nicholas says that they picked up the adaptation after perusing multiple scripts. "Between TM Karthik and I, we were reading a lot of scripts. We finally landed on The Father which both of us were excited about. The writing is brilliant. I like the idea that it is about a man who's losing his memory. At the same time, there's a lot of subtext where you're not sure if there is also a bit of gaslighting that's happening. It's very open-ended," he adds.

The play, dealing with a protagonist grappling with dementia, presents a delicate blend of reality and illusion, often leaving the audience questioning the nature of the experiences depicted. Nicholas' decision to retain the original English script was deliberate. "We have kept it the same because I think it's a universal topic. We didn't believe it would make sense to just change it to Mumbai or Pune," he says.

Discussing the challenges of a play that is not chronological from the lens of a fragmented mind, Nicholas highlights, "The scenes are not chronological at all because it's all in his mind. One scene is in the daytime and in the next couple of seconds, it's night. That was our biggest challenge in how to show it visually. So, we are using LED walls to create the effect of the house. The portrait of his daughter keeps changing. The walls change colour, things appear and disappear."

TM Karthik, known for his nuanced performances, says that theatre is not just about entertainment but also about impact. "Today, there is a lot of focus on comedy, and we all tend to go away from very serious issues. For me, it cannot be primarily about entertainment. The story has to have an impact on the audience where either they're shaken, or they go back in time and reflect about things," says Karthik.

TM Karthik in the lead role

Talking about his process of bringing the character to life, Karthik laughs, "I just forget my lines... problem solved," quickly adding, "Just joking. Each actor has different ways of getting into character. One of the most important things for me is complete trust in my director. An actor has to blindly accept and follow what the director wants from you."

Karthik shares his admiration for Anthony Hopkins' portrayal in the film adaptation, yet he emphasises the need to bring his own interpretation to the role. "The question is what else can you bring to the stage? The point is that you do something that people relate to and if you attempt plays, which are so beautiful, it'll make you a better actor. You are attempting to do something which is at Mount Everest, the least you can do is stand on a small hill. The idea is to aspire to try to reach somewhere," he adds. Performing in Bengaluru holds a special significance for him. Karthik finds the audience here to be diverse and unbiased, offering a true test of a performer's mettle. "In my last play, there were many young people, old people, and foreigners. We don't have that kind of diversity and generosity anywhere else," shares Karthik.

(The play will be staged on March 31, 3.30pm and 7.30 pm at Ranga Shankara, JP Nagar. Tickets priced ₹350 available on bookmyshow.com)

Brinda Jacob-Janvrin, an expressive arts therapist, explores the intricate subject of women's desire in her show

A passionate descent

While many believe that a subject like desire, especially when it comes to women, is too complex and tangled to be dealt with in a solo stage performance, Brinda Jacob-Janvrin believes that women's desire is not as a complex as many make it out to be. Melding performance and video art, Jacob-Janvrin delves deep into this subject with her show Spiralling into Desire to be staged this weekend.

Jacob-Janvrin who has been working on 'A Desire Project' says that this performance is a part of it. "This work is a fusion of performance and video art with which I want to show how we, as women, hold desire in our bodies. If you notice anyone that wants to control women, whether it's an organisation or an individual, the first thing they do is try and separate a woman from her desire," says Jacob-Janvrin, who is also a movement-based expressive arts therapist.

To condense this subject into an hour-long performance, Jacob-Janvrin uses the story of the Sumerian goddess Inanna's descent into the underworld, to visit her sister Ereshkigal – the queen of the dead. "The story kind of brings out Sigmund Freud's theory of Madonna-whore complex, wherein, Madonna stands for everything beautiful and pure and whore represents everything that we don't want in a woman. Patriarchy separates the two by forcing women to lose connection with our sexuality, to become the kind of person that's palatable to the society," explains Jacob-Janvrin, further adding, "In my act, I have taken, the reference of Inanna who lives in the upper world depicts everything beautiful and fertile and the other sister Ereshkigal who lives in the underworld represents the shadow. The act becomes whole only when the two sisters come together."

> If you notice anyone that wants to control women, whether it's an organisation or an individual, the first thing they do is try and separate a woman from her desire
> Brinda Jacob-Janvrin, choreographer

Straying from conventional choreography, she clarifies that the act adheres to a discipline called Authentic Movement, where the performer works with unconscious material that's held in the body. "So you close your eyes and you allow the body movements or sensations and memories that are in the body to surface so you can access them. So there's no choreography. I've been practising this, especially around the theme of desires since 2015. So all the movement in this space are movements that have repeatedly come to me over the years through authentic movement," highlights Jacob-Janvrin.

(Spiralling into Desire will be showcased on March 23 and 24 at Shoonya - Centre for Art and Somatic Practices, 6.30pm onwards)

I get muscle cramps during my workouts. Are there any pre- and post-workout rituals I should follow?

A pre- and post-workout ritual that are often overlooked is an adequate warm-up and cool-down.
Always start your workout with a proper warm-up routine to prepare your muscles for the forthcoming intensity; this can help prevent cramps and reduce the risk of injury. It is advisable to incorporate dynamic stretches into your warm-up routine to improve flexibility and reduce the likelihood of muscle cramps.

- Make sure to sip water before, during, and after workout and throughout the day as dehydration can contribute to muscle cramps. Cool down is as important as warm-up.
- Bring your heart rate down gradually and perform static stretches. Each stretch should be held for 30 seconds to a minute.
- Ensure you are consuming enough electrolytes, such as potassium, magnesium, and sodium, which are important for muscle function.
- Ensure you are in proper form during your exercises to avoid straining your muscles, which can lead to cramps.
- Nutrition and adequate rest also play an important role in preventing muscle cramps. Consume a good amount of protein and don't forget to rest well.

EATING A RAINBOW

How many colours are there in your diet? Have you ever thought about this? Do you think how and why it is important? If yes, below are the supporting facts and figures

DR CIJITH SREEDHAR

EATING a diet with various colours is what is considered a 'health-promoting and healing diet'.

A 'Rainbow diet' or a diet comprising various colours does not mean eating food which is artificially-coloured with colouring and flavouring agents. Rather, it promotes food containing natural colours such as red, orange/ yellow, green, blue/ purple, and white. These colours come about due to the presence of certain types of phytonutrients – the natural colourful compounds that are found in plants which not only provide essential vitamins and minerals but also help our cells to communicate with each other. Some phytonutrients boast anti-inflammatory properties, others are potent antioxidants, anti-cancerous, anti-ageing. They also help boost immunity, and have many other health-promoting functions and healing effects.

When you have all the colours included in your diet, you don't have to worry about the amino acids or fibres in the food since you get all of this in its natural state from the different coloured fruits and vegetables.

What you need to do is to eat at least one cup of each colour group every day. So, start exploring and adding new fruits and vegetables to your diet, while continuing to have the old ones in more healthy and tasty ways. Even having the same vegetable but in different colours, like purple cabbage and different-coloured bell peppers is beneficial.

Meanwhile, how you consume the vegetables is also important. A few of them are good when consumed raw, while a few others are better when cooked and others like carrots, celery, broccoli, peppers, and most of the green leafy vegetables and tomatoes are beneficial regardless of how they are consumed.

Is stress affecting your teeth?

DR MANIKANDAN G R

THE World Oral Health Day was held yesterday(March 20). This year's slogan for the day was 'a happy mouth is a happy body', which reiterates the need for the hour to keep the mouth healthy for overall well-being.

The oral cavity harbours a plethora of microorganisms and the frequent interplay among them decides the fate of symbiosis and dysbiosis among them. Adding to this microcellular pandemonium is the cross-talk between microbial flora and the host immune response.

Since the past several years, the lifestyle changes that have presented in daily life among people have been tremendous. One main outcome of this drastic lifestyle change is stress. Stress affects every system of our body, the stomatognathic system or the oral cavity is also not an exception. Let's have a look at the stress-related dental problems.

Bruxism or teeth grinding: This is often found in people with sleep disorders and can lead to severe consequences such as frequent grinding, hypersensitivity of the teeth and abrasion. In the long run, it may even cause jaw joint problems.

Aphthous ulcers: Frequent oral canker sores or aphthous ulcers are often a product of excessive stress. It may affect movable oral mucosa such as the inside of the cheek, tongue, lip, etc. These lesions are very painful and often last for 10-14 days.

Dry mouth: Xerostomia is common due to reduced saliva production during stress. This will lead to a burning sensation on the tongue and inner surface of the cheek. It will get pronounced in diabetic patients as well as in women who have reached menopause. Two other results are a higher incidence of dental decay due to less saliva and bad breath.

Jaw joint pain: Stress often leads to frequent irritation to the temporomandibular joint and this jaw joint disorder can lead to neuromuscular dental problems. Recent studies show even shoulder and neck pain have some relation with uncorrected jaw joint issues.

Periodontal or gum diseases: Stress often weakens immunity. Various studies from the University of North Carolina and Michigan have proved that stress can aggravate gum disease.

Tips for proper oral hygiene

- Engage in mindful activities.
- Allocate time for hobbies.
- Ensure adequate exercise in the sunlight.
- Maintain a well-balanced diet.
- Sleep for at least 6-8 hours a day.
- Refrain from vigorous toothbrushing. The proper practice should be to use a soft or medium toothbrush with a flexible handle and toothpaste in cream form.
- Drink at least 10-12 glasses of water per day as dehydration will worsen the bad breath.
- Share dental problems with the dentist and avoid unnecessary self-medication.
- Have antioxidant and vitamin-rich foods.
- Use topical antiseptic gels as per your dentists' advice in aphthous ulcers.
- Avoid touching teeth unnecessarily and using fingernails, toothpicks, safety pins, etc, to remove the dislodged food particles.
- Often, headaches, backaches, neck and shoulder pain, etc, may be due to teeth issues. Check for biting issues and aberrations, if the rest of the medical causes are ruled out.

RISHAB SHETTY'S KANTARA CHAPTER 1 SECURES DIGITAL RIGHTS FOR A WHOPPING PRICE

The post-theatrical digital rights of the multilingual film, produced by Hombale Films, has been bagged by Amazon Prime Video, even before the film has begun production

A SHARADHAA

THE post-theatrical digital rights of the much-anticipated Kantara - A Legend, Chapter 1 has been a point of discussion for a while now. Now, Amazon Prime Video has secured the rights for this prequel at a staggering price even before the full-fledged commencement of the film's shooting. Of course, the success story of Rishab Shetty's Kantara (2022) has set a remarkable precedent for its prequel. Prime Video announced this amidst a slate of upcoming releases spanning Hindi, Telugu and Tamil. The announcement highlights the platform's belief in the project's potential.

"There is no calamity greater than lavish desires. Such a calamity caused by a petty king ignites a rage in the heart of God's chosen tribal leader," reads the synopsis shared by Prime Video, teasing viewers with a glimpse into the narrative's depth and complexity.

The announcement of this collaboration between Hombale Films and Amazon Prime Video was a spectacle in itself, at an event held in Mumbai marked by a Yakshagana performance paying homage to the essence of Kantara's Varaharoopam. Rishab Shetty, speaking on the sidelines of the collaboration, revealed the meticulous preparations underway for the film. From erecting a grand set in his hometown of Kundapura to rigorous training in horse riding and kalarippayattu, Rishab Shetty's dedication to his craft as an actor is palpable.

Manish Menghani, Varun Dhawan, Rishab Shetty and Chaluve Gowda

As the project gains momentum, the first look poster featuring Rishab Shetty in a formidable warrior avatar has only heightened the excitement. The decision to delve deep into the origin story has sparked curiosity and anticipation among fans, with speculations suggesting that the film will explore the origins of Panjurli Daiva and Guliga, the revered protector deities depicted in the original Kantara. According to Hombale Films, the resounding success of Kantara in Kannada and its subsequent reception across multiple languages, both in theatres and on the streaming platform, solidified its position as a content powerhouse. He shares that the digital platform wasted no time to secure the rights for the prequel, even as the project was just announced, as they recognised its potential to captivate audiences worldwide.

While the technical team boasts Aravind Kashyap as the cinematographer and music composed by Ajaneesh B Loknath, the cast remains shrouded in secrecy. Recent reports suggest that Rukmini Vasanth has undergone a screen test to play the female lead, while actors like Sai Pallavi, Alia Bhatt, and Sapthami Gowda are also being considered.

'Our true worth comes from our dedication'

Composer Ritwik Kaikini, following in his father's Jayant Kaikini's footsteps, talks about his nurturing days, and his stint as music director of Kenda

CE FEATURES

WELL-known lyricist, poet, and author Jayant Kaikini has passed on the baton of creativity to his son, Ritwik Kaikini, as he ventures into music direction with Sahadev Kelvadi's Kenda. With the film gearing up for release, the makers recently unveiled the lyrical video of the song 'Taaja Suddi', which has lyrics penned by Jayant Kaikini himself. Speaking on the sidelines of the song launch, Ritwik shared insights from his journey and his foray into cinema as a composer with this film.

Having grown up in an environment imbued with music, Ritwik recalls that his childhood home was always filled with an eclectic mix of Hindi, Kannada and Marathi melodies. "My mother's diverse taste, ranging from Elvis and Beatles to Mehdi Hassan, nurtured our love for music effortlessly," says Ritwik, reflecting on his musical upbringing. Despite this passion, Ritwik initially pursued Mechanical Engineering while concurrently receiving mentorship from noted guitarist Hamid Hasan in Bengaluru. "His guidance in music theory and disciplined practice left an indelible mark on me," he shares.

Ritwik's journey into the world of music direction was catalysed by his social media presence, where his cover versions and compositions caught the attention of musicians Roopa Rao and Sahadev K, ultimately leading to him getting the opportunity for Kenda. "The authenticity and freshness of their approach connected with me instantly," shares Ritwik.

Reflecting on his firsthand experience composing music for Kenda, Ritwik acknowledges the complexity of the task. "I learnt a lot of nuances like balancing creativity with responsibility, striving for excellence within budget constraints, and understanding the film's narrative to the deepest extent," he shares. While he designed the soundtrack by himself, Ritwik expresses gratitude for the overwhelming support from his friends and the encouragement he received from seasoned artists.

Regarding his father's influence, Ritwik admires Jayant Kaikini's dedication and multitasking abilities while he also does not compromise on quality. "Public recognition doesn't define who we are as a person. Our true worth comes from the dedication we put into our work," explains Ritwik, echoing his father's beliefs.

While Ritwik draws inspiration from his father's work, he also infuses his Western touch into the arrangement and emphasises socially relevant themes. Looking ahead, Ritwik expresses a desire to blend diverse musical backgrounds. "I aspire to teach Philosophy of Sound and Science Communication, and also compose music for films, side by side," he concludes.
